6 Rodney Blunt

Rodney Blunt had a great role model when he was growing up in Florida. Now Blunt is using those lessons as he helps raise his son. Here is a profile of one of Clemson's top running backs in recent years.

49 Bowl Coalition

With the recent winning streak, Clemson is in the middle of the postseason bowl picture. With the adoption of the Bowl Coalition, it pays to be informed about the postseason process, one that takes some thought when trying to determine where the Tigers might play in December or January.

51 Harom Pringle

The list of basketball players from The Bronx that have gone on to greatness is as long as Long Island. But, the area has not produced a lot of NFL football stars. Clemson outside linebacker Harom Pringle is trying to buck that tradition.

61 Clemson Golf Course

Plans are in place, the course has been designed and the bulldozers are ready. After many years of discussion, it looks like the Clemson Golf Course is going to become a reality. It will be a boost to the area economy and provide Clemson's outstanding golf program with a home course.

73 OK Pressley

Over 60 years after his playing days ended, former Clemson center O.K. Pressley is finally getting his due. Research this summer proved that Pressley should be added to the Clemson list of All-Americans. This standout in the late 1920s paced Clemson to record-setting seasons and set a record himself that might never be broken.

109 Tracey Bates-Leone

Clemson will be adding women's soccer next year and the program will be led by former All-American Tracey Bates-Leone. She has the energy and knowledge of the game to bring Clemson a winner.

111 Steve Derriso

Clemson's senior tight end has had to overcome epilepsy to become a solid Division I football player. While his hometown is listed as Huntsville, AL, Derriso has been a Tiger fan since he was a youngster.

112 The Last Word

Steve Fuller was the object of one of the great recruiting battles in Clemson history. And, when you look at the list of accomplishments by one of Clemson's greatest student-athletes in history you can see why. Bob Bradley takes us back to the summer of 1975 and the foundation of Clemson's contemporary football resurgence.

Today's Game

by Tim Bourret

Tigers on Three-Game Streak

Clemson has come back from the loss at Florida State to post three consecutive ACC wins, all thrillers by six points or less that have been decided in the last two minutes. Clemson has downed Georgia Tech, 16-13, #24 N.C. State, 20-14, and Duke by a 13-10 score. Each game Clemson's defense has come up with a stand in the last minutes of play to save the game for the Tigers.

Georgia Tech drove to the Clemson 24-yard line and had a first down with 3:40 to go in the game. But, Michael Barber stepped up and held the Yellow Jackets to no gain on two of the next three plays, then a 41-yard field goal attempt by Georgia Tech was wide right.

The next Saturday Clemson had a 20-0 lead heading into the fourth period against N.C. State. The Wolfpack scored a pair of TDs and had the ball again with 4:33 to go starting at their own 15. Geoff Bender took N.C. State to the Clemson 12-yard line. But, inside linebacker Tim Jones stepped up and batted down each of N.C. State's last two pass attempts at the goal line and Clemson had a six-point win. His last deflection came on the last play of the game.

Then, last Saturday in Durham, Duke had the ball on the Clemson 26 with 1:45 to play, trailing 13-10. On third-down, Andre Humphrey broke up a pass near the Clemson 10. On fourth-down Brentson Buckner blocked a 43-yard field goal attempt. Duke got the ball back for one last try, but Dexter McCleon intercepted a pass at the Tiger eight to ice the victory.

27 Teams 4-1 or Better

Clemson is off to a 4-1 start, its best record for the first five games since 1990. Clemson has posted a 4-1 record for its first five games six times since 1981 and each of those years the Tigers have gone to a bowl game. Clemson was 4-1 in 1986, 5-0 in 1987 and 4-1 in 1988, 1989 and 1990.

The Tigers are one of 27 teams with a 4-1 record or better at this point in the season. Four of those teams are from the ACC, as Florida State is 6-0, Virginia is 5-0 and North Carolina 6-1 in addition to Clemson's 4-1 mark. The ACC, the SEC (Florida at 5-0, Tennessee at 5-1, Auburn at 6-0 and Alabama at 5-0) and the Big Ten (Ohio State 5-0, Penn State 5-0, Wisconsin 5-0 and Indiana 5-1) are the only conferences with four teams at 4-1 or better.

Nebraska at 5-0, Oklahoma at 5-0 and Kansas State at 5-0 are the Big Eight teams with top records, while Miami at 4-1 and West Virginia at 5-0 are the Big East teams at 4-1 or better. Arizona at 5-0, Washington at 4-1 and California at 5-1 are the Pac-10 teams in the upper echelon, while Brigham Young at 4-1 and Wyoming at 5-1 are the WAC representatives. Texas A&M is 4-1 and the only Southwest Conference team with a 4-1 record or better, while Independents Notre Dame (6-0), Louisville (5-1), Army (4-1) and Ball State (4-1) are in this category.

Caldwell Makes First Trip to Death Valley

Wake Forest Coach Jim Caldwell is making his first trip to Death Valley as a head coach. Caldwell, who came to Wake Forest after a successful assistant coaching stint at Penn State under Joe Paterno, is trying to achieve something against Clemson that has not been done since 1977.

Over the last 15 seasons no coach in his first year at a school facing Clemson in Death Valley has gained victory. The last coach to defeat Clemson in his first game against the Tigers in Death Valley is Dan Devine, who defeated Clemson as the head coach at Notre Dame, 21-17 in 1977.

Notre Dame, the eventual National Champion that year, had to score two touchdowns in the fourth quarter behind the quarterbacking of Joe Montana, to pull it off. Twenty-three of the players who participated for Notre Dame that day went on to play in the pros.

Only three coaches over the last 17 years have gained victory over the Tigers in their first trip to Death Valley. This group includes coaches who had faced Clemson previously on the road. Red Wilson, who coached against and lost to Clemson in 1979 in Durham, defeated the Tigers 34-17 in 1980 at Clemson in his first trip to Death Valley. Joe Morrison led South Carolina to a 22-21 win at Clemson in his first trip to Death Valley in 1984 after he had faced Clemson in 1983 in Columbia (a Tiger victory).

Coaches usually struggle in their first appearance at Clemson. The Tigers have a 36-3-1 record the last 17 years against teams with a head coach making his first appearance at Clemson. This is a good year to use that stat because six of the seven teams coming to Clemson this year are coached by men who are bringing in a team to Clemson for the first time.

Jim Strong of UNLV, Bill Lewis of Georgia Tech and Mike O' Cain of N.C. State are coaches who have already tasted defeat this year in their first appearance at Clemson. After Caldwell, East Tennessee State's Mike Cavan and Maryland's Mark Duffner will be making their Death Valley debut. George Welsh of Virginia is the only opposing coach this year who has brought a team into Clemson previously. Welsh is yet to gain victory at Clemson, but he did tie the Tigers in his last appearance, 1991.

Wake Forest Update

While Wake Forest comes to Clemson with a 1-4 record, it is apparent that the Tigers will not take the Demon Deacons lightly. Memories of an 18-15 Wake Forest victory last year, culminated by a postgame celebration that included the destruction of the goalposts, is still firmly etched in the minds of many returning Tigers. It was Wake Forest's first win against Clemson since 1976, and it was a key win in the Deacons drive to their first bowl game since 1979.

The Deacons of 1993 are coming off a 45-35 loss at North Carolina, one of the top 15 teams in the nation. Wake Forest's other losses have come to Vanderbilt, N.C. State and Northwestern and the only victory was against Appalachian State.

The Deacons are led offensively by Todd Dixon, one of the top all-purpose players in the nation. Dixon has been a thorn in Clemson's side for three years. Last year he caught two touchdown passes, including the game winner on a classic diving catch in the end-zone. He had a 58-yard scoring catch against Clemson in 1991, and had 144 yards receiving for the day.

So far this year Dixon has 17 catches for 336 yards, nearly 20 yards a catch. He also averages 27.6 yards a kickoff return and has a 95-yard return for a TD. He also has an 80-yard TD reception to his credit so his big-play capabilities have not diminished one bit.

Jim Kemp, a senior from Bethesda, MD, likely will be the starting quarterback for Wake Forest. He came off the bench to key a 22-point Wake Forest fourth quarter rally against the Tar Heels. Kemp, the son of national political leader and former Buffalo Bills quarterback Jack Kemp, connected on 23 of 34 passes for 309 yards. Rusty LaRue, who has played against Clemson in basketball, had been the starter in three games and has completed 57 percent of his passes. The Demon Deacons have completed 59 percent of their passes for an average of 258 yards a game.

Buckner Posts

All-Around Game

Brentson Buckner posted one of his better all-around games as a Tiger in the win over Duke. The 300-pound defensive tackle led the Clemson interior linemen with eight tackles, third highest by a Tiger defender in the defensive game. He also had a career best two passes broken up, a quarterback pressure and a tackle for loss.

His biggest contributions came late in the game. With just 1:55 left and Duke with a first-and-10 at the Clemson 26, Buckner batted down a Spence Fisher pass. Then, with just 1:38 left, Buckner blocked a 43-yard field goal attempt that would have tied the game.

Buckner now has five tackles for loss this season and 37 for his career. He moved into seventh place on the Clemson all-time list in that category and now trails sixth-place Chester McGlockton, who had 39 tackles for loss between 1989-91. Buckner is also seventh in Clemson history in quarterback sacks with 17.

Barber Sets Career High

Inside linebacker Michael Barber made the most of his first start of the season when Clemson downed Duke in Durham last Saturday. The junior from Edgemore, S.C., matched the number on his back with a career high 12 tackles and led the Tigers in stops in that game. Barber had just 14 tackles for the entire 1991 and 1992 seasons, but now has more than twice that figure in half of the games in 1993.

Barber has 31 stops for 1993, including 22 first hits. He ranks fourth on the team in total tackles, not bad for someone who has averaged just 25 plays per game. He has been productive all year. In the opener against UNLV, Barber had seven tackles in just 28 plays. He had five in 15 plays at Florida State, then had five tackles and two passes broken up in 26 plays in the win over Georgia Tech.

Jones and Burnette continue to pace the Clemson linebacker crew. One or the other has led Clemson in tackles in four of the five games this season.

Greg Hood had a productive 17 minutes in the win at Duke.

Jones, Burnette Top Tacklers

The Clemson inside linebacker combination of Tim Jones and Derek Burnette continue to lead the Clemson defense in tackles. Jones had 10 stops against Duke, the second highest total by a Tiger in the game and his second consecutive double figure tackle total. Jones now has 44 tackles in five games. He led the Tigers in tackles last year with 89 in 10 games, so he has continued his pace of last season on a per game basis. He missed last year's Wake Forest game due to a neck injury.

Burnette missed most of last Saturday's win at Duke with the flu, but still made four stops in just 13 plays. Burnette has 37 tackles for the season, including a team best 10 at Florida State and a team best 11 against Georgia Tech. He also caused two fumbles in the Georgia Tech game. Burnette was very productive at Wake Forest last year with seven tackles, including two for losses in just 20 plays.

Hood Makes Most of Time

Tailback Greg Hood was Clemson's top rusher against Duke with 67 yards in eight attempts. The native of nearby Anderson, S.C., is second on the Clemson team in rushing with 152 yards and leads the team in yards per carry at 4.6. Hood averaged a team best 6.7 yards per carry last year, also best on the club, as he had 242 yards in just 36 attempts.

Hood's rushing aggregate on Saturday was the second highest total of his career, as he had 72 yards in seven attempts in the win over North Carolina last year. Hood gives a good change of pace when he enters a contest, usually in the second half. He gained all 67 of his rushing yards in the last 17 minutes of the Duke game. His statistics from week to week are remarkable because he misses most of the two most important days of practice, Tuesday and Wednesday. Due to the scheduling of a couple of classes he needs to graduate this semester, he is present for only half of the practice on Tuesday and completely misses Wednesday's work.

Blunt Looks for 2,000 Career Yards

Clemson running back Rodney Blunt is on the cover of today's Clemson-Wake Forest program. He could have a memorable game to go with that keepsake as he needs just 43 yards to reach the 2,000-mark for his career. Blunt had 12 attempts for 53 yards at Duke, his first game after missing the Georgia Tech and N.C. State contests due to injury.

Blunt now has 1,957 career rushing yards, the 12th highest figure in Clemson history. He went ahead of former All-ACC player Joel Wells (1954-56) this past Saturday. Wells had 1,937 career yards. Next for Blunt on the chart of leading Clemson rushers is Cliff Austin, who had 2,139 yards between 1978-82.

When Blunt reaches the 2,000-yard mark it will give Clemson a 2,000-yard running back and a 2,000-yard receiver on the same team. Clemson has never had a 2,000-yard receiver and a 2,000-yard running back on the same team. Terry Smith is already over the 2,000-yard mark in terms of receiving yards. The senior from Clemson now has 2,223 pass-catching yards.

Terry Smith Closing In On Records

Terry Smith should move into second place on Clemson's career reception and reception yardage list against Wake Forest. The senior receiver has 138 career receptions for 2,223 career yards for his 39-game career. Jerry Butler, who was an All-American for the Tigers in 1978 and was the team's top receiver in 1976-77-78, had 139 catches for 2,223 yards. That's right, Smith and Butler are tied for second in career reception yardage and are just one reception apart.

The career leader in both catches and reception yardage is Perry Tuttle, an All-American in 1981 and the Tigers' top receiver in 1979-80-81. Tuttle had 150 receptions for 2,534 yards. So, Smith needs just 13 receptions and 312 yards to break Tuttle's records.

Smith certainly hopes to have a good homestand, as the native of Clemson would like to break the record in his hometown in a stadium he has been coming to since he was a kid. While there certainly is a statistical oddity between Smith's and Butler's career reception yardage total, there could be another oddity if Smith breaks Tuttle's record against Maryland in two weeks. In 1981 Tuttle broke Butler's career reception record against Maryland in a game at Clemson. The Terps come to Clemson on October 30.

McCleon Leads Defense, Special Teams

Freshman Dexter McCleon leads the ACC in punt returns and ranks second in interceptions. He did nothing to hurt his ranking in either area last week at Duke, and is now ranked in the top 12 in the nation in both areas.

The native of Meridian, MS, who came to Clemson as a high school All-America quarterback, had four punt returns for 69 yards and two interceptions in the win at Durham. One of his punt returns was a 39-yarder and set up Clemson's go-ahead field goal, a field goal that proved to be the game-winner.

McCleon has a 13.9 average on his 12 punt returns so far this year, the sixth best figure in the nation. His 167 punt return yards in five games already rank higher than the 145 yards Robert O'Neal had last year when he led the Tigers for the course of the season. McCleon has increased his punt return yards each of the last four games. He had 18 against Florida State, 27 against Georgia Tech, 53 against N.C. State and 69 against Duke.

McCleon became the first Tiger this year to record two interceptions in the same game when he had a pair at Duke. He now has three for the season, not bad for someone who has been in for just 124 snaps for the season. He also had a career high tying four tackles in the win at Duke.

McCleon is a two-sport starter at Clemson. Last spring he helped the Clemson baseball team to a 45-20 record and the ACC Championship by hitting .299 as a DH and outfielder. McCleon hit .372 against the ACC pitching, including a .400 average (4-10) against Wake Forest. McCleon was a 13th-round draft choice of the Minnesota Twins after his senior year of high school.

LeJeune Leads Offensive Line

Offensive tackle Brent LeJeune had a grade of 84 percent against Duke for his 56 plays of action. It was the fifth straight game in which LeJeune has graded at least 80 percent and he has been Clemson's highest graded lineman in four of the five games so far this season.

Clemson Homestand

Clemson has its next three games in Death Valley, a stadium that has seen Clemson win 73 percent of the time over the years and 89 percent of the games in the Ken Hatfield era.

The Tigers have a 3-0 mark at home this year and now are 177-64-7 since the stadium opened in 1942. That is a winning percentage of 73.6 percent. The Tigers are 19-2-1 in Death Valley in the Ken Hatfield era, the best winning percentage of any Clemson coach in history. The month of October is certainly a month in which the Tigers can enhance their home mark because four of the five games in this month are in Death Valley.

Wake Forest, Saturday's opponent, is just 5-22 in Death Valley, an 81.5 winning percentage for the Tigers. Wake Forest has been Clemson's opponent in Clemson Memorial Stadium more than any other team and Clemson's 22 wins over the Deacons is the high total among Tiger opponents. Wake Forest has not won at Clemson since 1961 (17-13).

Rodney Blunt

by Annabelle Vaughan

The way Rodney Blunt got his nickname, "Rock," is not very glamorous. One day when he was small, he fell off his grandmother's porch and landed on his head. When he got up unscathed, his grandmother commented, "You fell like a rock." The nickname stuck and the young Blunt heard more than a few comments about having a head like a rock during his younger years.

The nickname gained new meaning when Clemson's senior tailback began to play football, many years later. As his toughness on the field began to be noticed by coaches and teammates, the comment, "You're hard as a rock," was heard frequently. Blunt began to strive to live up to this different meaning of his childhood nickname, working hard on the football field and with the weightlifting team, developing his body so that it would indeed be hard as a "rock."

But at the age of 22, just weeks away from college graduation, Rodney Blunt has realized that living up to his nickname requires more than physical toughness. Being the type of rock that he desires to be requires determination, hard work and mental toughness. He realizes that being a "rock" means providing a solid foundation for his family and a non-yielding role model for his three-year-old son, Roderick, known by his family as "Little Rock."

Blunt doesn't have to go far to find a living example of what being tough as a rock is all about. "My dad, Frank Blunt, is my role model," he says. "He had a stroke at the age of 34 and went through a period when he was physically dependent on other people to take care of him. It was very hard for all of us to adapt because the power figure in our house was now dependent. But my dad fought real hard and he made himself able again. He still walks with a limp and he might carry his arm sometimes, but he can do anything he wants to do. He never laid down and took what was handed to him, he fought every step of the way. Even when my brother had to be the head of the house physically, we all still knew that my Dad was the head of the household."

"I learned that a tough man is a man who can mentally overcome obstacles. I learned that a man will go through ups and downs, but will come out of it and make the best out of the worst times. I never understood what drove my dad so hard to get better, what gave him that toughness, until I had Roderick. Then I realized that my dad fought for us."

"Rock" Blunt got his nickname from a hard fall as a youth.

His father's illness forced Blunt's entire family to learn how to be tough. "My big brother had to step up and be the daddy for a while," he remembers quietly. "Everybody had to help out. I wasn't old enough to get a real job, so I cut grass to earn money. My oldest brother worked two jobs while he was going to school and playing football. My mom worked hard and made sure that her boys didn't go astray while my dad was sick. Everybody joined together, the way a family is supposed to."

As Frank Blunt continued to rehabilitate and get back on his feet, his youngest son began to see the difference having a strong father at home was having on his life. "I was the only person out of all my friends who had a daddy at home. Most of the guys I grew up with are now in jail. They watch me play football, but they are behind bars watching me. I was right there with them, growing up in the same environment, but I had my dad and I think that is what made the difference."

Blunt's two older brothers, Donell and Michael, went on to join the Marine Corps, while Blunt began to make his mark on the gridiron. "I never played any sports growing up because there was a registration fee and we were never able to pay it. My parents weren't really into athletics because there were so many other things to worry about. Besides, if I got hurt, that was just another bill to pay. I started playing at school and my parents never saw me play until my junior year in high school. They never pressured me about football and they still don't."

At Pine Forest High School in Pensacola, FL, Blunt was named his team's Most Valuable Offensive Player for three consecutive years and led his team to the high school national championship as a senior. He rushed for 1,682 yards and 20 touchdowns as a senior and was named an honorable mention All-American by USA Today. "Rock" lived up to his nickname as a weightlifter as well, finishing second in the state weightlifting meet. But despite the success he enjoyed, he never felt that he had reached a level where he could be satisfied. "My high school coach, Carl Madison, always made me think that if I kept working, I could be good. I was going to be good—one day. I always kept that in mind and tried to work harder and harder."

When it came time for college, Blunt chose a school famous for another "rock" and came north to Clemson. He was called into action early in his career, playing in the first game of his freshman season while starting tailback Terry Allen (now with the Minnesota Vikings) was forced to miss a game. Blunt was forced to receive a medical hardship that season, though, due to a thumb injury. He came back with a rock-solid performance as the second-team tailback during his redshirt freshman campaign, and led the Tigers in rushing as a sophomore and a junior.

But while Blunt was giving it his all on the football field at Clemson, his thoughts were often hundreds of miles south, where his wife Jackie and son Roderick were still living in Pensacola. "I was always worried that the next phone call would be to tell me that something had happened to one of them," he remembers. "Crime is real bad in the area where they were and I always thought about it. Then when they would come to visit me, I would worry about them traveling back and forth."

Despite his worries for his family, Blunt managed to keep his concentration on the football field and in the classroom. For the past two seasons, he has led the Tigers in rushing and has stayed on track academically. Heading into this season, his last in a Tiger uniform, Blunt had great expectations. He is fast approaching the 2,000-yard rushing mark for his career, and Jackie and Roderick are now in residence in Clemson.

But things haven't worked out just the way Blunt planned. "I still worry about Jackie and Roderick just as much as I did when they were in Pensacola," he laughs. "When I go to the hotel on Friday nights before games, I still call to make sure she's doing all right. It also took a while for us to get our schedules together, because she works and I am in class or at practice all the time. She understands totally that my schedule is rough and we have planned ahead to work our schedules so we can spend time together."

Things have not gone as Blunt planned on the football field either. After suffering an ankle injury in practice the week before the Georgia Tech game, he was forced to sit out that contest, and the N.C. State game. "I was really frustrated because of my injury," he says, "but Jackie really broke it down to me. She helped me realize that no matter how hard you work or how hard you try, you can't help it if you get hurt. It's nobody's fault and you can't rush God's time to get better. I felt like the season was all over for me, but she has helped me be determined to come back even stronger."

Blunt's last name typifies his running style. His hard-nosed approach is his main reason for his success.

"Jackie is real strong. She has always kept a level head and has been confident that we were going to come out on top as a family. We went through some hard times being so far apart for so long, but she always stayed strong. She is my best friend."

Having his son around has also helped Blunt make it when times have gotten rocky this season. "He is just so full of excitement," laughs the proud father. "He loves being around all this and I love having him in this atmosphere. He loves any kind of sports and if it comes on TV, he will sit and watch it with me. He loves to play football with me and he understands that I play. Sometimes when I feel down, I will read him a story and see how peaceful he is. He doesn't have all these distractions. It makes me see how simple life can be."

"My goals are not for myself now, but for him. Everything I do reflects on Roderick. Just like the strength my dad showed has made me a better person, I want to do the same for my son. I am a sociology major and everything I come across about children, I study extra hard, because I want to do everything I can to make sure my sons grows up to be a fine young man."

"Little Rock" already shows signs of the physical toughness that his father is known for. "He doesn't care how big somebody is, he thinks he is tougher than they are," says Blunt. "Sometimes I have to break him and [Brentson] Buck[ner] up when they are wrestling. He loves to wrestle and try to act like he's tough."

In December, Blunt will earn his degree in criminal justice, accomplishing something that means more to him and his family than any achievements he earns with a football in his hands. One thing that will make graduation even more special for Blunt is the fact that he will graduate with his friend and former roommate, Terry Smith.

"Terry has been like a brother to me away from home," he says. "We were roommates since our freshman year and we would sit and talk about our dreams and goals and we would always seem to be coming from the same place. I always went to him when something was bothering me and vice versa. He was the first person who knew when Roderick was on the way. I know that after this year, we will be going our separate ways, but the bond between us is so strong, I know that our friendship will make it no matter how many miles are between us."

After graduation, Blunt's goals are not what you might expect of someone who has played football at the level he has. "I never wanted to be a football player," he says, "but I always wanted to be a body builder, even when I was real small. When I was little, I used to take my shirt out and prance around with my chest stuck out like a body builder. I really want to do that before I give up sports. I think I would be good at it because it takes a lot of discipline, and I am very disciplined."

"But that would just be a hobby. Professionally, I want to get in one of the law enforcement agencies. I would really like to work with juveniles. I have realized how important having a male role model is, and I would like to be that for kids who don't have one at home."

Sounds like a "rock-solid" philosophy.

Dr. Max Lennon

Clemson University President Max Lennon's ambition is to be president of the nation's top technologically-oriented land grant university. And he doesn't plan to leave campus to achieve that goal. Because that's the vision Lennon has for Clemson: not to be "one of the best," but to be better at what it does than any other school.

To achieve the vision, Lennon has brought the business world's concepts of total quality management and strategic planning to the academic arena. He hopes these concepts will help reduce bureaucracy, increase involvement of students, faculty and staff in the management of the university, increase diversity, and create an atmosphere of a community of scholars.

"The vision statement that has emerged from the strategic planning process—to become the nation's leading technologically-oriented land-grant university—sets a challenging course for this institution's development: to become the best in our league," he has said.

It is this commitment to excellence that has enabled Lennon to lead Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president. The Lennon presidency has seen the completion of the most successful campaign in the university's and the state's history: unprecedented growth in research, topping $100 million in annual expenditures last year; and an ongoing program of campus revitalization that balances the university's desire for technological excellence, cultural awareness, and historic preservation.

Lennon came to Clemson from Ohio State University, where he had been president for agriculture administration and executive dean for agriculture, home economics and natural resources. He also served on the Ohio State Faculty Senate and co-chaired the Governor's Commission on Agriculture.

Previously, he had served as dean of the College of Agriculture at Ohio State, director of the Agricultural Experiment Station at the University of Missouri, and as associate dean and director of research in the College of Agricultural Sciences at Texas Tech University.

Lennon is a native of Columbus County, NC, and earned his bachelor's degree and doctorate from N.C. State University, where he began his teaching career.

The Clemson president has been active in a number of state and national organizations. He is one of 13 university presidents and chancellors appointed to a nationwide committee to study the role of public service at land-grant and other public institutions.

The Outreach Futures Committee, a product of the National Association of State Universities and Land-Grant Colleges, is charged with rethinking the concept of Extension-type activities at public colleges and universities.

"The traditional Extension model has been enormously effective at increasing agricultural productivity and rural development in this country, and now we need to modernize traditional programs and to look at harnessing that same type of energy to focus on other community and educational needs, such as health, natural resource management, and K-12 education," Lennon said. "Clemson is recognized as a national leader in developing a new outreach model through programs in local leadership development, community-based education and creative programming for young people and their families."

In addition to the Outreach committee post, Lennon serves on the organization's Commission on Veterinary Medicine and is a member of the Congressional Office of Technology Assessment's Advisory Council. He is also a member of the Council of Presidents, the S.C. Research Authority Board, the Chamber of Commerce Board, the National Dropout Prevention Fund Board, the Farm Foundation Board, the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS) Committee on Intercollegiate Athletics and the SACS Executive Council. Other Board appointments include First Union, Delta Woodside and Duke Power.

In 1991, he received the Thomas Green Clemson Medallion, the highest public honor given by the university. Lennon is married to Ruth Carter Lennon. This past year, they joined an elite group of people who can call themselves "Clemson Parents" when both children, Daniel Ray and Robin, received degrees from the university.

Dr. Max Lennon has led Clemson to new heights during his seven years as president.

Ken Hatfield

Hatfield played on a national championship team in college, served as an assistant coach for five top-20 teams and has been the head coach for seven top-20 clubs.

During his career, Ken Hatfield has shown his ability to win, regardless of the conference, the competition, or the program. He is one of only three active coaches to lead three different programs to top-20 seasons and is the only active Division I coach to gain 10-win seasons at three different schools. He has also ranked among the nation's elite in terms of overall winning percentage over the last decade, as his .750 winning percentage over the last 10 years ranks sixth among active coaches who have coached at Division I schools in each year of that time frame. His last 10 teams have competed in nine bowl games and he has produced seven top-20 clubs in the last decade.

When Hatfield took over the Clemson program prior to the 1990 season, he was faced with the challenge of continuing the tradition of excellence set in the eighties (only Nebraska and Miami had fewer losses in that time frame than Clemson). Hatfield has met the challenge, posting a 24-10-1 mark for the Tigers in his first three seasons, two top-20 finishes and the 1991 ACC Championship. The 1991 team was the first Tiger team since 1982 to have just one loss in regular season play.

The victory over Illinois in the 1991 Hall of Fame Bowl made Hatfield the first Clemson coach to win 10 games in his first year and his .833 winning percentage was the best for a first-year Clemson coach since 1900 when John Heisman was 6-0. The 1990 season included six wins over teams with winning records. Only national champion Georgia Tech had more.

Hatfield was just the eighth coach in the last 13 years to take a team to a top-10 AP final ranking in his first year with the program.

But Hatfield's impressive debut at Clemson was no big surprise to those who have followed his career. He has enjoyed success throughout his involvement with the sport of football, as a player and coach.

As a player, he helped Arkansas face every challenge in 1964, when the Razorbacks had an 11-0 season and won the national title. As an assistant coach at Tennessee and Florida, he molded countless players into top-notch athletes who competed for Southeastern Conference titles, played in seven bowl games in a 10-year period, and ranked in the final top 20 five times. As a head coach, he took a dormant Air Force program to a number-13 national ranking and a pair of bowl wins. He continued to meet the challenges at Arkansas, his alma mater, guiding the Razorbacks to back-to-back Southwest Conference titles, something that had not been done at Arkansas since Hatfield was a player.

Hatfield has had five 10-win seasons in his career and has accomplished that task at three different schools. He is the only active coach and one of just two in the history of the game (Dan Devine is the other) to have taken three different schools to a 10-win season.

Hatfield has an overall record of 105-59-3 (.638), but he has won 75 percent of his games over the last 10 seasons (91-29-2). At Arkansas, he posted a record of 55-17-1 over six seasons, a .760 winning percentage. That percentage is second best in Southwest Conference history as only Darrell Royal (Texas 1957-76) had a better percentage.

The native of Helena, Arkansas, played in two bowl games with the Razorbacks, coached in seven post-season games as an assistant and the 1992 Citrus Bowl marked the 10th in which he has been the head coach. Seven times he has coached a team to a top-20 final ranking in the AP poll, and he played on two other top 15 teams.

Hatfield-coached clubs have excelled offensively and defensively, but they have been particularly successful in rushing offense and defense. Each of his last 11 teams have finished in the top 20 nationally in rushing offense, including eight top-10 finishes. This includes last year's team, which averaged 257 yards a game and ranked sixth nationally.

Two of his last four Arkansas teams finished in the top three in the country in turnover margin, including his 1988 team that was first in the nation (Clemson was second that same year). Defensively, his clubs have finished in the top 15 in the nation in rushing defense six of the last seven years. The Tigers were ranked first in the nation in total defense, second in rushing defense, and second in scoring defense at the end of the 1990 regular season.

Clemson ranked first in the nation in rushing defense and fourth in total defense in the 1991 season.

Hatfield has coached in four major conferences and with independent schools, giving him a diverse background in the finer points of the game. It is one reason he was named the third best teaching coach in college football by Inside Sports magazine in 1990.

Hatfield began his coaching career immediately after graduation. In the fall of 1965, he served as an assistant coach at Helena-West Helena High School in Arkansas. In 1966, he moved to West Point, where he served as freshman coach for two seasons.

After the two-year stint at Army, he served as an assistant coach at Tennessee for three years (1968-70). The Volunteers went to post-season bowls all three seasons (including two major bowls), won a conference title and ranked in the final top 20 of the AP poll all three seasons, including a number-four ranking in 1970.

In 1971, Hatfield began a seven-year stint at the University of Florida, spending four seasons as a defensive backfield coach and three as an offensive backfield mentor. Florida played in four bowl games during his career in Gainesville and two more Gator teams finished in the AP top 20, including the 1974 team that played Nebraska in the Sugar Bowl.

Hatfield became offensive coordinator at the Air Force Academy under current New England Patriots Head Coach Bill Parcells in 1978. A year later, Parcells was wooed to the New York Giants and Hatfield became the Falcons' head coach. The Air Force program had not had a winning season since 1973. But by his fourth season, Hatfield had an eight-game winner, led Air Force to its first-ever victory over Notre Dame, and had taken the Falcons to a post-season bowl for the first time since 1971.

In 1983, Hatfield was named national Coach-of-the-Year by the Football Coaches Association (Bobby Dodd Award) after leading Air Force to a 10-2 season that included wins over Notre Dame, Navy and a bowl victory over Mississippi. It was the Academy's first-ever win over Notre Dame in South Bend.

The next year, Hatfield succeeded Lou Holtz at Arkansas, where he would take his alma mater to 55 wins in six seasons, six bowl appearances and four final top-15 rankings. His 1985 club finished with a 10-2 mark and number-12 national ranking, the Razorbacks' first top-20 finish since 1982. Four times the Razorbacks rallied from fourth quarter deficits to gain victory.

The 1986 campaign was another year of success with highlight victories over a nationally ranked Texas A&M club and the Razorbacks' first win in 20 years at Texas. Arkansas advanced to the Orange Bowl and finished 15th in the final AP poll.

Arkansas won the 1988 and 1989 Southwest Conference Championship. He was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Year in 1988 as he took the Razorbacks to the league title and a 10-0 start. Miami (FL) defeated Arkansas 18-16 in the Orange Bowl to stop the streak. Seven players off the 1988 club (all recruited by Hatfield) were drafted by the NFL, an Arkansas single draft record.

After the 1989 team's 10-2 ledger and second straight SWC championship, Hatfield was named Southwest Conference Coach-of-the-Decade by the Houston Post. Included in the victories was a triumph over a top-15 Houston team and Heisman Trophy winner Andre Ware.

Hatfield played for three years at Arkansas (1962-64) and he was a starter on the National Championship team of 1964. A defensive back by trade, he earned his fame as the nation's top punt returner in 1963 and 1964. He also finished as the runner-up as a sophomore and is still the only college football player to finish in the top two in the nation in punt returns three straight seasons.

An accounting major who earned his diploma in the spring of 1965, Hatfield was an Academic All-American in 1964 and was the recipient of the Swartz Award, presented annually to the top student-athlete at Arkansas. The 1964 All-SWC selection was inducted into the Arkansas Sports Hall of Fame in 1989. He is married to the former Sandy Wright of Kennett, Missouri.

Hatfield has taken three different schools to 10-win seasons, the only active Division I coach who can make that claim.

YOUR UNUSED TICKETS COULD HELP ERIC TACKLE THE BOOKS.

Eric attends a Homework Center – a place that helps him when Mom and Dad can't. And when he works especially hard, he can win wonderful prizes – like tickets to a Clemson home game that he might otherwise never get to see.

Hundreds of Homework Centers across the nation focus on keeping struggling students from becoming dropouts. In actuality, they're doing a lot more than that. Many hardworking students are bringing their grades up from F's to A's, and in one South Carolina elementary school expulsions declined from 38 to 4 after the centers opened.

Duke Power is proud to help support such an important and effective program. We invite you to help too. Simply donate football or basketball season tickets you're unable to use or purchase extra tickets to contribute to the Homework Centers for use as prizes. Send them at least two weeks before game day to: John Geer, Duke Power Company, P.O. Box 1745, Clemson, SC 29633.

If you do, you'll be helping students like Eric tackle the books today so that tomorrow they can tackle the world.

Clemson Sports Program

In 1992-93 Clemson had seven of its athletic teams finish in the Top 20, while three Clemson athletes won four National Championships. Clemson had 24 first, second or third-team All-Americans in 1992-93, just three away from the most in Clemson history.

Clemson teams laid claims to three ACC Championships in 1992-93 with the men's track program claiming two of those titles and the baseball team taking the third. Ten Clemson teams advanced to postseason play during the 1992-93 academic year and NCAA postseason team bids were received by four teams.

The spring sports enjoyed the most success as three of the four men's spring sports teams finished in the top 20. Golf finished fourth, men's outdoor track finished 10th, and baseball finished 16th. The women's tennis squad posted a number-12 national ranking.

The highest national finish was posted by the men's indoor track squad as the Tigers finished second for the second straight year. Three of Clemson's four national championship performances came from the men's track program and head coach Bob Pollock was named the ACC Coach-of-the-Year for indoor and outdoor track.

The Tiger golf team finished fourth nationally and all five Clemson golfers who competed at NCAA's were named honorable mention All-American or better. Baseball claimed Clemson's third ACC Championship of the 1992-93 year and advanced to the NCAA Mideast Regional. The wrestling team had its highest finish ever with a number-13 final ranking, while Sam Henson captured the National Championship at the 118-pound weight class. The men's soccer squad finished the season with a number-19 national ranking.

The women's basketball team made its sixth consecutive NCAA Tournament appearance. Women's tennis coach Andy Johnston was named the ACC Women's Tennis Coach-of-the-Year after leading his squad to its highest national finish since 1986. Women's outdoor track boasted six All-America performances.

Clemson teams were also a rousing success in the classroom in 1992-93, with a record 122 student-athletes making a 3.0 or better. Hurdler Anthony Knight was Clemson's top all-around student-athlete in 1992-93, winning the ACC's Jim Weaver Award and received an NCAA postgraduate scholarship. Soccer goalie Jaro Zawislán, a second-team All-South selection in soccer, was named a second-team ISAA All-America Academic selection.

The ACC

✓ If success is the best measure in terms of wins and losses, then the ACC has proven itself to be among the elite in Division I-A football. The nine ACC teams are a combined 68-57-5 (.542) in bowl games, a winning percentage second only to the Pac-10's .545 success rate.

Winningest Conferences, Bowl Games

League	Record	Pct
Pacific-10	75-62-6	.545
Atlantic Coast	68-57-5	.542
Southeastern	123-122-13	.502
Western Athletic	32-32-3	.500
Big 10	65-67-3	.493
Big Eight	57-62-1	.479
Big East	39-44-1	.470
Southwest	58-68-6	.462

Winningest Schools, Bowl Games

Team	Record	Pct
Georgia Tech	17-8	.680
Notre Dame	12-6	.667
Oklahoma	19-10-1	.650
Southern Cal	22-13	.629
Penn State	17-10-2	.621
Florida State	12-7-2	.619
Clemson	11-7	.611

✓ The ACC is the only conference in the country to have each of its schools play in at least one bowl game in the last four years. The ACC has had 18 total bowl invitations over the last four years.

✓ Georgia Tech, with a 17-8 (.680) postseason mark, is number-one among Division I-A teams in bowl winning percentage. The Yellow Jackets lead a list of three ACC teams that rank in the top seven all-time bowl teams. Florida State is sixth with a 12-7-2 (.619) record and Clemson is seventh at 11-7 (.611).

✓ Two ACC Schools, Clemson and Florida State, rank among the top 11 teams in the nation as far as winning percentage over the last 10 years. The same two schools are also ranked in the top 11 in the nation in terms of years ranked in the final AP Top 20 over the last 13 years.

✓ The nine ACC schools who take the field this fall under the ACC banner have produced 288 first- or second-team gridiron All-Americans and 45 first-team academic All-Americans. ACC schools have had 1,233 players selected in the annual professional draft, including 75 first-round selections.

✓ Seven times in the past 13 years an ACC member school has claimed the CFA Academic Achievement Award, which is awarded to a CFA member institution with the highest graduation rate among members of its football team.

✓ The ACC had 29 players selected in the 1992 NFL draft, including four first-round selections. The first-round picks were Marvin Jones of Florida State by the New York Jets, Dave Brown of Duke by the New York Giants, Wayne Simmons of Clemson by the Green Bay Packers and Thomas Smith of North Carolina by the Buffalo Bills. The 29 selections ranked as the fourth highest total in ACC history.

✓ Florida State led all ACC schools with six players drafted, while Clemson was second with 5.

✓ Four ACC teams are guaranteed of appearing in postseason bowls this year. Two ACC teams are committed to the 1993 Football Bowl Coalition. The league champion is guaranteed a spot in one of four Tier One Bowls, the Orange, Sugar, Cotton and Fiesta, and a second team will be available for the Tier Two Bowls, the Gator and the John Hancock. For the second year of a three-year contract, the ACC is committed to sending a third team to the Peach Bowl. The ACC begins a two-year deal to have a fourth league team compete against a Big Ten team, also a number-four team, in the Hall of Fame Bowl.

✓ The 1992 season marked the fourth straight year that the ACC had at least four teams in bowl games and the 21st straight year that at least two teams have appeared in postseason play.

✓ The 1992 season was the fifth time in six years that at least one ACC team was ranked in the Top 10 of the wire services. At least two ACC teams have been listed in the final AP poll every year since 1985.

✓ The ACC was a balanced league in 1992, as for the first time in the 40-year history of the league, six teams had at least four league wins. Seven of the nine ACC teams were ranked in either the AP or USA Today polls during the course of the season and seven of the nine teams had at least one win over a top 25 team. Eight of the nine ACC schools were represented on the first-team all-conference team.

✓ The ACC boasted an all-time high 11 players who were named first- or second-team All-American in 1992. Clemson is second in the ACC as far as all-time All-America selections with 45.

✓ The ACC was 23-8-1 (.735) against outside competition in 1992, the second best mark in league history. The record is .770 in 1990. In the decade of the 1990s the ACC is 85-31-3 for a .727 non-conference record. The ACC is 13-13 against AP Top 25 non-conference teams in the decade of the 1990s.

✓ For the second year in a row the ACC drew more than 2.3 million fans. Clemson led the way with a 76,789 figure, the 17th straight year Clemson has led the league in attendance.

✓ The ACC was one of the top scoring and total offense leagues in the nation in 1992. Six of the nine schools ranked in the top 50 in total offense and seven ranked in the top 50 in scoring offense.

✓ Defensively, the ACC had six of the top 45 teams in the nation in scoring defense. Six of the nine schools had at least 30 sacks in 1992.

Clemson and Florida State both rank among the most successful football programs in the nation over the last 10 years.

IPTAY

Traditions are something that don't happen overnight, they evolve over a number of years. One tradition at Clemson that is going strong and heading into its 60th year is IPTAY. The IPTAY Scholarship Foundation, is known throughout the country for its faithful and generous contributions by its supporters. A recent USA Today article called IPTAY the best-known organization of its kind in the nation. The article noted that at a time when college athletics costs are rising IPTAY continues to lead the way in supporting athletic scholarships at Clemson. IPTAY plays a major role in insuring that all 18 of the varsity sports at Clemson are given the maximum amount of scholarships allowed by the NCAA.

Thanks in part to IPTAY's contributions, the 1992-93 academic year proved to be another banner one for Clemson athletics. Seven of the 18 athletic teams finished the year in the top 20 of their respective sports. Twenty-four Clemson student-athletes were named All-Americans. There were three ACC Championship teams during the year from Clemson (men's indoor track, men's outdoor track and baseball) with 56 Tiger athletes earning All-ACC honors. Three Tigers also won four individual national championships during the year, as Michael Green won the 55 and 100 meters and Wesley Russell won the 400 meters indoors for the men's track program, and Sam Henson won the 118-pound wrestling championship. That total marked the most ever in a single sports year at Clemson.

Tiger athletes also excelled in the classroom during the 1992-93 academic year, with 122 student-athletes earning a 3.0 or better for the spring semester. Clemson's Anthony Knight, a hurdler for the track squad, was named a recipient of a $5,000 NCAA Post-Graduate scholarship, one of the highest academic honors given by the NCAA. He also received the ACC's Jim Weaver Award earlier in the year, another postgraduate scholarship that is one of the conference's highest academic accolades.

The success of the Clemson athletic program comes during a time when the integrity and accountability of the academic progress of student-athletes are receiving national attention. IPTAY has been a large part of that success by being committed to the student-athlete.

IPTAY is recognized as one of the oldest, largest and most successful athletic fundraising organizations in America. IPTAY was the first athletic fundraising organization in the country to top the two, three, four, and five-million dollar marks in annual donations.

In 1934, Dr. Rupert Fike founded IPTAY with a very simple purpose in mind: IPTAY provides funds for athletic scholarships. Since 1934 IPTAY has certainly met Fike's goal, providing scholarships for over 5,000 student-athletes, trainers, and managers.

IPTAY currently provides the funds for tutorial programs staffed by trained academic advisors, assisted by graduate and undergraduate students. This support is intended to insure that all student-athletes are given the opportunity to earn their degree while participating in athletics.

IPTAY donors have also played an intricate role in the "Campaign for Clemson," a long-range fundraising project of the University. The University's original goal of 62 million dollars was surpassed with the next goal of 78 million also being surpassed in the campaign that ended on June 30, 1992. IPTAY provided three million dollars with ongoing opportunities for donors to be part of the Vickery Hall Academic Learning Center.

Vickery Hall, located on East Campus is a 27,000 square foot facility that houses the tutoring and advising programs for student-athletes. The building contains various-sized study and tutoring rooms used for individual study as well as small-group instruction. Computer facilities, an office/reception area for the advising staff and an auditorium, also are contained in Vickery Hall.

The generous support of 16,274 loyal donors to IPTAY has allowed the organization to go beyond the funding of athletic scholarships by providing the financial basis for many of the unparalleled athletic facilities at Clemson.

Since 1978, IPTAY has provided the funding for $34 million of capital improvements in the area of athletics. These improvements include the expansion of the football stadium, the newly renovated baseball facility (Tiger Field), the new outdoor track, the indoor tennis facility, the soccer stadium, the weight room, the new golf practice area, a new cross-country course, and the IPTAY/Ticket office facility.

IPTAY is also proud to provide the funding for Tiger Band. Each year IPTAY establishes financial support for travel, uniforms and equipment for this integral part of the Clemson athletic program.

While IPTAY is primarily concerned with athletic fundraising, the mission of Clemson University has not been overlooked. The IPTAY Academic Scholarship Endowment was created to help meet the need for more academic scholarships for nonathletes who are highly qualified academically. This scholarship endowment is funded by certain company gifts that are made as a result of employee contributions to IPTAY. In addition, the athletic department has made generous contributions to the endowment from athletic revenues.

The IPTAY Academic Fund is presently the largest scholarship endowment of its kind at Clemson providing $1.9 million in funds, currently benefitting more than 50 students. IPTAY's support extends to all of the student body.

The tremendous support of IPTAY is due, in large part, to the organizational makeup that allows donors to be as close to IPTAY as they are to their local IPTAY leadership. Each of South Carolina's 46 counties has an IPTAY County chairman, and every county is allotted an IPTAY representative for every 35 donors.

One important way IPTAY keeps in touch with its membership is the annual Clemson Club meeting held in April and May of each year. These meetings, which feature different coaches and administrators are just one of the ways of making the local IPTAY members feel close to Clemson.

Clemson University will continue to be recognized and respected on the national level athletically and academically with the full support of IPTAY. IPTAY will continue to be successful because a loyal commitment to Clemson University is a way of life in the hearts of Clemson alumni and friends.

Academic All-Americans

Charlie Bussey, Back, 1956: Clemson quarterback 1954-56...captain of the 1956 team that won the ACC title and played Colorado in the 1957 Orange Bowl... Academic All-ACC in 1955 and 1956...third-team Academic All-America choice in 1956...led the Tigers in passing, punting and interceptions in 1956, the last Tiger to pull off that all-around triple threat performance...entered Air Force where he served as an instructor-pilot for over eight years...lives in Greenville, SC, where he oversees manufacturing plants.

Harvey White, Back, 1957: Second-team Academic All-American as a sophomore... Academic All-ACC in 1957 and 1958...led the team in total offense during his sophomore and junior years...paced the club in passing for three straight seasons... All-ACC as a sophomore, he quarterbacked Clemson for three straight years and to three straight bowl games...co-captain for the 1959 team...had a 154 passing efficiency in 1957, second highest single season figure in Clemson history...18th in the nation in total offense in 1957 with 1038 yards...still ranks fifth in Clemson history in passing efficiency... first Clemson quarterback to complete over 50 percent of his passes for a career...still in top five in Clemson history in touchdown passes.

Lou Cordileone, Tackle, 1959: Named to first-team All-American, Academic All-American and Academic All-ACC in 1959...only Clemson player to be chosen first-team Academic and on-field All-American in the same year...started on two ACC Championship teams that were nationally ranked 11th and 12th in 1958 and 1959, respectively...played in two 1959 bowl games, the Sugar Bowl and the Bluebonnet Bowl...right fielder in the College World Series for Clemson baseball team in 1959... played with the New York Giants (football) in 1960, he was a first-round draft choice.

Don Kelley, End, 1971: Three-time Academic All-ACC selection...first-team Academic All-American in 1971...holds single game return yardage record for Clemson and the ACC with 223 yards against Maryland in 1970...had a single game record 167 yards on punt returns in that game...his 389 punt return yards in 1970 ranks as the second best for a single season...sixth in the nation in punt returns in 1970...played defensive back for two years, then switched to flanker for his senior year...his mother was 1970 IPTAY Mother-of-the-Year...Don is now a dentist in Greenville, SC.

Ben Anderson, Defensive Back, 1971: Second-team Academic All American... President of Tiger Brotherhood while at Clemson...earned 1972-73 NCAA Postgraduate Scholarship award...won the Jim Weaver Award as the outstanding student-athlete in the ACC for the 1972-73 academic year...recipient of the Frank Howard Award for bringing honor to Clemson University in 1973...three-time academic All-ACC on the gridiron, he made the team in 1970, 1971 and 1972...attended South Carolina Law School...lives in Clemson and is the General Counsel for Clemson University.

Steve Fuller, Quarterback, 1977-78: First-team Academic All-American as a senior, second-team in his junior year...made Dean's list six consecutive semesters at Clemson...awarded NCAA Postgraduate

Scholarship and Jim Weaver Postgraduate Scholarship from the ACC...honored in 1978 as one of 11 scholar-athletes by the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame...NCAA Top Five Award winner, given annually to the top five student athletes in the nation, regardless of sport...graduated with a 3.93 in Pre-Law (History)...just the second Clemson athlete in history to have his number (four) retired...played in East-West Shrine Bowl and Senior Bowl in 1979...played in the NFL for eight years, including a stint with the Super Bowl Champion Chicago Bears...works in real estate in Hilton Head Island, SC.

Mike Eppley, Quarterback, 1983: 1990 Clemson Hall of Fame inductee...honorable mention All-American in 1984...Academic All-ACC in football and basketball three times each during his celebrated career...participated in 1984 Blue-Gray game...threw for 28 career touchdown passes, breaking Bobby Gage's record...recipient of the Frank Howard Award in 1983-84 academic year and the Clemson IPTAY Athlete-of-the-Year the same season... third in the nation in passing efficiency in 1983, the highest finish ever by a Clemson quarterback...only Clemson QB to rank in the Top 25 in passing efficiency twice...fourth-team Academic All-American in 1984, he was first-team All-ACC by AP for his on-field performance...doubled as basketball player for four years...earned 268 assists, seventh best all-time finish in Clemson history on the hardcourt, when he graduated...also earned his master's degree from Clemson...heating and air conditioning vice president in Charlotte, NC.

Bruce Bratton, Offensive Tackle, 1991: First-team College Football Association Academic All-American for 1991 and a second-team All-ACC choice by AP/ACSWA at offensive tackle... named to the Academic

All-ACC football team for three straight years, he was just the sixth player in Clemson history to do so...received his degree in industrial engineering in May of 1991, he was a graduate student during his last year of competition...winner of the Bob James Postgraduate scholarship, the ACC's top academic honor...a senior leader of the Tiger offensive line that led the team to the ACC regular season title in total offense and rushing offense in 1991...in on 1,899 snaps in his Clemson career...a prime reason Clemson ranked in the top 20 in the nation in rushing each of the last three seasons...graded 75 or better in six of the last seven games of 1990...a three-year starter for the Tigers.

Bowl Coalition

by Tim Bourret

The Bowl Coalition forces were quite successful in 1992, the rookie year of the complicated process that has enhanced the sports' sanity in postseason bowl selections.

Primary Coalition participants included the Federal Express Orange, Mobil Cotton, USF&G Sugar and IBM OS/2 Fiesta Bowls whose postseason classics produced seven of the Associated Press Top 10 teams, including a national championship showdown in New Orleans featuring No. 1 Miami (FL) vs. No. 2 Alabama.

The Coalition's first-year success was the reward for more than 18 months of arduous planning as the organization's pioneers set forth to meet the challenge created by the fast-changing landscape (conference realignment) that college football was experiencing in 1991.

Representatives from the Federal Express Orange, Mobil Cotton and USF&G Sugar Bowls engaged in a dialogue in 1991 with the newly formed Big East Conference, the Atlantic Coast Conference and independent Notre Dame. Their mission: To join forces and create a long overdue and much needed College Football Bowl Coalition that would ensure a sound selection formula for filling the berths of the new organization's member bowls.

A relationship was established and it was at a crucial meeting held in Chicago during the first week of April, 1991, when the Coalition's foundation was laid. The machinery that was to drive the Coalition's development over the ensuing 18 months swung into high gear when the two groups again convened in Raleigh during the third week of May. This meeting—where overall strategy was laid out to implement a carefully conceived "game plan"—actually served as the "launching pad" for the Coalition.

The Federal Express Orange, the Fiesta, the Mobil Cotton and the USF&G Sugar Bowls had now become the Coalition's principal participants. These four New Year's Day bowls provide eight berths—three of which are already filled under existing contracts with the Big Eight, the Southwest and the Southeastern Conferences (the Fiesta is open-ended)—to be filled by a formidable and attractive pool of nationally ranked teams.

A sound selection process, incorporating the Associated Press (writers) final regular-season poll was developed and agreed upon by each of the Coalition's principal parties, thus eliminating the previous disruptive practice of institutions and bowls determining matchups early in November.

Using the AP poll to determine the selection priority of the USF&G Sugar (1st), Mobile Cotton (2nd) and Federal Express Orange (3rd) last year, the proceedings—Bowl Day USA—were conducted in Atlanta on Sunday, December 6, and were well attended by the media and the college football community.

This year's proceedings will be held again in Atlanta on Sunday, December 5 at 10:00 AM, with the selection process governed by the Coalition Poll (the combination of the points in the AP and USA TODAY/CNN polls).

To further strengthen the organization's structure and enhance its quality—while moving ahead with its game plan—the Coalition prevailed upon the Pacific-10 Conference to join the Atlantic Coast, Big East, Big Eight and Southwest Conferences in sending a second team to the Coalition.

A secondary component was subsequently structured by the conferences participating in the Coalition when three additional bowls—the Outback Steakhouse Gator, the Blockbuster and the John Hancock—signed one-year agreements to participate.

This year, the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl provides one berth and the John Hancock Bowl offers two berths to round out the Coalition's membership. The Blockbuster Bowl is now known as the Sunshine Classic and is not a part of the Coalition.

The Selection Process, 1993

The Bowl Coalition Poll final regular-season rankings will be determined by combining the point totals of the AP (writers) and USA TODAY/CNN (coaches) polls, each having 62 voting members with points based on 25 for a first-place vote through one for 25th.

If it is apparent after the regular-season games held on the last Saturday in November that the IBM OS/2 Fiesta Bowl will not have an opportunity to host a game featuring the No. 1 vs. No. 2 ranked teams in the final Bowl Coalition poll, the IBM OS/2 Fiesta Bowl shall be entitled to select one (1) team for its game from the "Pool of 38." The Pool of 38 consists of the non-champions of the ACC, SEC, Big Eight, SWC, and PAC-10.

After the Mobil Cotton, Federal Express Orange and USF&G Sugar Bowls have been filled on December 5, the IBM OS/2 Fiesta will then pick its second team to round out the eight spots in those four bowls. Based on the final regular season Bowl Coalition Poll, the Mobil Cotton, Federal Express Orange and USF&G Sugar Bowls will select an opponent in order of the highest ranking of each bowl's conference champion. Example:

If SEC champ Alabama is ranked No. 1, SWC champ Texas A&M is ranked No. 5 and Big Eight champ Nebraska is ranked No. 8, the USF&G Sugar Bowl would have first choice; the Mobile Cotton Bowl second choice; and the Federal Express Orange Bowl third choice of all remaining Coalition opponents.

After the eight spots in the above listed bowls are filled, selection of the three at-large teams remaining from the "Pool of 38" are available to round out the one berth available in the Outback Steakhouse Gator Bowl and the two berths available in the John Hancock Bowl.

As a result of this system, Clemson is eligible to be chosen for the Orange, Fiesta, Cotton, Sugar, Gator (Sec #3 vs. Pool of 38), Hancock (Pool of 38 teams), Freedom (PAC-10 #3 vs. open berth), Hall of Fame (Big Ten #4 vs. ACC #4), Peach (SEC #4 vs. ACC #3), Independence (two open berths) and Liberty (Possible Army or Navy vs. open berths) bowls. The Freedom, Peach, Independence and Liberty bowls are now the only postseason events that have wild card openings.

Many bowls have agreements with two conferences. For instance, the Citrus Bowl now matches the runnerup in the big Ten against the runnerup in the SEC. As a result of these agreements, Clemson can't go to the Citrus, Alamo (SWC #3 vs. PAC-10 #4), Aloha (WAC #2 vs. Big Eight #3), Las Vegas (Big West Champ vs. Mid-American Champ), Rose (Big Ten Champ vs. PAC-10 Champ), Sunshine Classic (Big East #3 vs. SEC #5), Holiday (WAC Champ vs. Big Ten #3) and Copper (WAC #3 vs. Big Eight #4) bowls.

Clemson's recent success has Richard Moncrief and the rest of the Tigers in the Bowl Coalition picture.

Harom Pringle

by Brett Sowell

When a young boy is growing up in the New York City area the most likely type of ball he will pick up is a basketball. Such NBA stars as Kareem Abdul Jabbar, Nate Archibald, Bob Cousy and Julius Erving grew up in that area and went on to the Hall of Fame. Future Hall of Famer Michael Jordan spent most of his youth in North Carolina, but he was born in Brooklyn.

In the Bronx, basketball is king. People follow football, but where do you find a football field in the city? Clemson senior outside linebacker Harom Pringle spent his formative years in the Bronx and, fortunately, found some green grass.

"I started playing football as a youth when I lived in the lower part of South Carolina. When I moved back to New York City, I looked around for a school with a decent football program and I was surprised, because there were a lot more options than I thought there would be. New York City does have natural grass fields. Youth leagues play at fields near Yankee Stadium and in Central Park. People just think of the tall buildings and the concrete, but kids find places to play."

Pringle has experienced life in a big city and life in a small Southern town. He was born in New York City, but he has lived in Walterboro, South Carolina during different intervals of his life. It was in Walterboro that Pringle became aware of Clemson football and its traditions.

"I was introduced to Clemson during the time I spent in Walterboro. When I was a little boy we would watch the Tigers play on television and I liked the excitement of seeing the team run down the hill. My dream was to come to Clemson and experience touching the rock and running down the hill. When I was young, it became a goal of mine to come to Clemson and play football. At first it didn't seem feasible because few kids from the inner city of New York have the opportunity to attend big colleges, but that fact has made my opportunity at Clemson very special."

His experiences in both parts of the country have taught him there is a distinct difference between the two areas when it comes to sports. "In the North there is more of an emphasis put on basketball and in the South there is more of an emphasis put on football. At my high school in the Bronx, the football team was second behind the basketball team in popularity because the basketball team had the better athletes on it."

During Pringle's high school career he was a starter on JFK High School's football and basketball teams. It was during his junior season that he played basketball with a couple of football stars. Pringle competed with Carl Banks and Pepper Johnson, both linebackers on the New York Giants 1987 Super Bowl Champion team.

"Playing with Carl Banks and Pepper Johnson was just like a fantasy. Both of those guys were so big and I was small at the time. Carl Banks shared some pointers with me about the game of football. I learned a lot from them."

As great as Banks and Johnson are, neither is Pringle's favorite football star. That spot is reserved for another New York Giants great, future Hall of Famer Lawrence Taylor.

Pringle's quickness gives opposing quarterback fits.

"I began to follow Lawrence Taylor in my freshman year of high school because my coaches told me that my playing style was a lot like Taylor's. I guess I picked up the style of play just by watching him. I was always fascinated by the way he made tackles and the speed with which he played. I basically tried to pattern myself to be like him."

Pringle's high school coach helped him decide which sport to concentrate on. He knew football was his sport and his coach's encouraging words amplified his feelings about the sport. "My high school coach told me that I was the best he had ever coached at JFK High School and that was a great honor. I had a chance to take my basketball game to the collegiate level, but football was and is my game.

Besides I didn't like the pressure of having to make that clutch shot in basketball. I would rather make clutch tackles."

Pringle's wish of making clutch tackles almost came true in Clemson's 20-14 win over N.C. State earlier in the season. Pringle forced Wolfpack quarterback Geoff Bender to throw away the ball late in the game and then leveled Bender to force him to watch the final plays from the N.C. State bench. So far this year Pringle has started every game and has 10 tackles and a pass deflection. He had four solo tackles in the win over the Pack.

At Clemson Pringle has had the experience of playing behind two outstanding linebackers in Wayne Simmons, a 1993 NFL first-round draft pick and Ashley Sheppard, a 1993 NFL fourth-round draft pick. Both are seeing significant action in the NFL this year, Simmons with the Packers and Sheppard with the Vikings. Harom has tried to blend the lessons he learned from each to become a better player at his position in 1993.

"Simmons and Sheppard taught me that I could play reckless and also play sensible at the same time. My freshman year at Nassau Junior College, I followed Clemson and Wayne and Ashley were the guys making the big hits, tackles for losses, and getting the defense fired up. One day I knew it was going to be me out there playing for Clemson and doing those things. Both are like big brothers. There were some things Ashley did well and some different things that Wayne did well, and I try to mesh the qualities of both together to become a better player."

When Pringle finishes his career at Clemson the industrial management major would like to return to New York City and start a business with his father in construction. Harom Pringle, Sr. with his guidance and leadership has made a great impact on his son.

"My father isn't really a verbal person, he leads more by example. Sometimes he would come in and say one sentence and then give me this look, that is when I knew it was time to start shaping up. He has never given up on me."

Unfortunately for Harom, his parents have never seen him wear a Clemson uniform in person. In two weeks, however, fittingly on Parents' Weekend, Mr. and Mrs. Pringle will see Harom play for the Tigers for the first time versus Maryland.

"It is something I have been looking forward to. It will definitely be a special day for all of us."

Yes a dream come true for a family from The Bronx. A dream come true in a football stadium in South Carolina.

The art of banking in the state of South Carolina

Carolina First has elevated the business of banking to an art. Exhibiting exceptional skill in providing the outstanding services of a larger bank, with the personalized attention only a hometown bank can offer. This philosophy, our unique way of conducting business, has been instrumental in our statewide growth. But we're not just growing for the sake of growth. We understand the mania of big bank mergers and its detrimental effect on our state. So, we're making available our proven philosophy to more people and businesses statewide. And we've taken prudent steps to assure that this successful strategy remains consistent branch to branch, hometown to hometown, across the Palmetto state. We're committed to serving the state, and serving it well. We're an integral part of South Carolina, bringing state-of-the-art banking to the entire state and helping make South Carolina a better place to live and do business for us all.

Clemson Golf Course

by Beth McInnis

Ever since Larry Penley began his career as head golf coach at Clemson, he's looked forward to having a course to call "home." With the sale of a few more memberships and a little bulldozer work, that dream will become reality.

Plans for the new golf course and conference center began over a year ago. Today, all designs are virtually complete and construction is ready to begin...almost.

According to Kathy Fox, director of marketing, construction on the course will begin as soon as the last membership is sold. Until then, the primary goal is just that, identifying prospective members and selling the memberships.

"People are afraid that the course will never be built, so they're hesitant to buy a membership. Consequently, without the initial $1.5 million in memberships, the course won't be built. The bulldozers are ready," said Fox.

Fox has been making the rounds to Clemson Club meetings and IPTAY functions promoting the new facility. The first member event was held several weeks ago with over 200 people in attendance, including course designer and ABC golf analyst Steve Melnyk.

Clemson's successful golf program under Larry Penley should benefit by the construction of the on-campus facility designed by Steve Melnyk.

The course will be funded from $1.5 million in private annual and life membership dues and a $2.2 million guaranteed loan, guaranteed by the Clemson University Foundation. No state funds will finance the building of the course. After the course is built, the university will subcontract with Riverside Golf of Jacksonville, FL for the daily operation of the course for the first three years.

Resident memberships are available to individuals who live or work within a 40-mile radius of Clemson. Nonresident memberships are available to individuals who live or work outside a 40-mile radius of Clemson. The Life membership is open to those who wish to establish a dues-free membership and is limited to just 70 members. Benefactor memberships are open to those who wish to make a charitable gift that meets gift-naming guidelines. Tentatively, the name of the course is The Clemson Golf Course. A gift of $1,000,000 will name the course.

The course will be available to the public with payment of a greens fee and Clemson students will receive a discount on greens fees and are eligible for memberships. Organizations will also have access to the facilities.

When it is completed, the course will feature Bermuda fairways and tees and bent-grass greens. The front nine will extend along Honeycutt Creek, from Old Stadium Road to the Botanical Gardens. The back nine will begin high atop a hill overlooking Lake Hartwell and the Blue Ridge mountains and will extend down the edge of the lake with a look resembling a links course.

"The good Lord gave us everything but the holes," said Penley. "This is going to be a very natural, very pretty place and that's the mark of a good golf course."

Course designer Melnyk echoed Penley's comments saying, "This course is a perfectly balanced course. It has upland pasture holes, tree-lined fairways and lakeside vistas. These are the three elements golf course architects love most."

According to Melnyk, the routing and designs are nearly complete and fit the land ideally. The verdict is still out on the signature 16th hole, which will appropriately feature a Tiger Paw green.

Plans for the new facility also call for a new Continuing Education/Conference center. The plans include a 39,000-sq.-ft. continuing education and conference building, a 58,000-sq.-ft. 100-room hotel with a pool, tennis courts and exercise room. The hotel and restaurant will be run by the Marriott Corporation.

According to Jeff Martin, the conference center director, "This will be the premiere meeting place and conference center in the upstate. The impact will be tremendous, not just on Clemson, but in all surrounding areas."

Not only will the center serve as a meeting place, it will join an already impressive educational outreach system and benefit graduate and undergraduate students. The golf course itself will be a "living laboratory" in turf grass development and management, environmental toxicology, horticulture and the conference center will provide useful training for students in recreation management.

For the university and community, the new conference center and golf course will be a welcome addition. For years Clemson golfers have practiced and played surrounding courses, sometimes traveling as far as Greenville or Pickens just to practice. Now, they will have a premiere course in their own backyard. The Tigers have participated in the NCAA tournament (fourth last year) each of the last 11 years, something only four programs in the nation can claim. It is amazing that Penley has brought the program to this level without a home course. A new course would certainly bring Clemson to the highest level of college golf.

"We are obviously very excited about the course and its impact on our program," said Penley. "We have been practicing on some outstanding courses in the area and we appreciate the relationship we have with those facilities. But, to have a course right on campus, within walking distance for the team, would be ideal. It will be a boost to recruiting and the program in general."

The final memberships are being sold and finally this reality is only a crank of the bulldozer away. Welcome to a new era in Clemson golf...literally.

Naturally Fresh® Mexican Dip

- 1 can refried beans
- 1/2 packet of taco seasoning
- 1 ripe avocado
- 3 tablespoons Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa
- 1/2 cup sliced black olives
- 1 tomato, diced
- Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing
- Shredded Monterey Jack cheese

Spread one can refried beans over a 13 x 9 pan. Add 1/2 packet of taco seasoning and stir into beans. Respread. In a small bowl mash 1 ripe avocado until smooth. Add Naturally Fresh Picante Salsa and spread over bean mixture. Next layer with sliced black olives and diced fresh tomatoes. Top with Naturally Fresh Sour Cream & Herb Dressing to cover well. Add shredded Monterey Jack cheese. Serve chilled or bake on low temperature until cheese is melted. Makes a great tailgating dip!

Emergency Services

The Clemson University Athletic Department provides the following for your safety and emergency medical needs:

1. Advanced cardiac life-support stations in four locations (North stands, Upper North deck, South stands, Upper South deck). These units are staffed with skill-care nurses, physicians, cardiologists, internists, paramedics, and EMTs.
2. Mobile units of EMTs and paramedics are strategically located throughout the entire stadium.
3. Ambulances with life-support equipment are available in North stand and South stand areas and have prearranged routes for evacuation to local hospitals.

Learn to recognize these personnel and facilities.

WHAT TO DO IF EMERGENCIES ARISE:

Please step back and give the organized EMS personnel room to work. Well-intentioned attempts to help by untrained persons interfere with the efficiency of the EMS system. If you have basic or advanced training in specific life-support methods, make your qualifications known and offer your help. Untrained personnel can frequently be more harmful than helpful.

Most emergencies occurring at the stadium result from pre-existing medical conditions. Bring your medical identification card or wear medical identification jewelry. Moderation is the key with dress, food, beverage intake, and physical exertion. The two most frequent medical problems at football games are allergic reactions to insect stings and heart attacks.

INSECT STINGS:

Common at outdoor events. Treat immediately with ice and seek medical advice. If allergic, carry a kit from your physician with you.

HOW TO RECOGNIZE A HEART ATTACK:

The symptoms of a heart attack vary, but the usual warning signs are:

1. Uncomfortable pressure, fullness, squeezing or pain in the center of your chest lasting for two minutes or more.
2. Pain spreading to the shoulders, neck, jaw, arms, or back.
3. Dizziness, fainting, sweating, nausea, and/or shortness of breath.

EXPECT A DENIAL

Frequently heart attack victims deny they are having a heart attack. The event is frightening or they don't want the embarrassment of a false alarm. Therefore, they delay getting help by ignoring their symptoms or rationalizing, "It's just indigestion."

Find out what's really wrong. Prompt response can dramatically increase chances of survival and recovery.

New therapies have been developed that can minimize heart damage and save lives if treatment begins within the first few hours of symptom onset. "Time is muscle." Get help or get to a hospital immediately.

Memorial Stadium

Clemson has won over 72 percent of its games in Death Valley.

In the first 51 years of Memorial Stadium, Clemson has a record of 174-64-7, including a 16-2-1 ledger over the last three seasons. Clemson had a 16-game unbeaten streak at home between 1990-92 and has a career winning ratio of 72.5 percent.

The stadium has definitely been good to the Tigers who call it home, but the stadium was constructed against the advice of at least one Clemson coach. Just before head coach Jess Neely left for Rice University after the 1939 season, he gave Clemson a message. "Don't ever let them talk you into building a big stadium," he said. "Put about 10,000 seats behind the Y.M.C.A. That's all you'll ever need."

Instead of following Coach Neely's advice, Clemson officials decided to build the new stadium in a valley on the western part of campus. The place would take some clearing—there were many trees, but luckily there were no hedges.

The crews went to work: clearing, cutting, pouring, and forming. Finally, on September 19, 1942, Clemson Memorial Stadium opened with the Tiger football team thrashing Presbyterian College, 32-13.

When the original part of the stadium was built in the early 40's, much of the work was done by scholarship athletes, including many football players. The first staking out of the stadium was done by two members of the football team, A.N. Cameron and Hugh Webb. Webb returned to Clemson years later to be an architecture professor, and Cameron went on to become a civil engineer in Louisiana.

There are many stories about the stadium, including one stating that Frank Howard put a chew of tobacco in each corner of the stadium as the concrete poured.

Howard says that the seeding of the grass caused a few problems. "About 40 people and I laid sod on the field," he says. "After three weeks, on July 15, we had only gotten halfway through. I told them that it had taken us three weeks to get that far, and I would give them three more week's pay for however long it took. I also told them we would have 50 gallons of ice cream when we got through. After that it took them three days to do the rest of the field. Then we sat down in the middle of the field and ate up that whole 50 gallons."

Howard says that on the day of the first game in the stadium, "the gates were hung at 1:00 and we played at 2:00." But that would be all of the construction for a while. Then in 1958, 18,000 sideline seats were added and, in 1960, a total of 5,658 west end zone seats were added in response to increasing attendance. With the large end zone, "Green Grass" section, this expansion increased capacity to about 53,000.

Later, upper decks were added to each side of the stadium as crowds swelled—the first one in 1978 and the second in 1983. This increased capacity to over 80,000 which makes it one of the 10 largest on-campus stadiums in the country.

Through the years, Memorial Stadium has become known as "Death Valley." It was tagged this by the late Presbyterian coach, Lonnie McMillan. After bringing his P.C. Teams to Clemson for years and getting whipped, McMillan said the place was like Death Valley. A few years later the name stuck.

On November 16, 1974 the playing surface was named Frank Howard Field for the legendary coach because of his long service and dedication to the University.

Athletic Director Bobby Robinson says that Memorial Stadium has many features that make it a top facility. "One thing that makes it so good is the number of sideline seats," he says. "We don't think there is a bad seat in the house."

"We also have outstanding dressing rooms, press facilities, and ample parking nearby. Another unique feature of the stadium is the number of private boxes."

If Memorial Stadium is expanded again and the capacity is pushed closer to 100,000, there will be room for construction over the west stands, enclosing that end like a horseshoe.

Luckily, the stadium wasn't built behind the Y.

Clemson has the most exciting stadium entrance in the nation.

O.K. Pressley

by Sam Blackman

The record book never gives the complete story.

Although a typical record book lists the accomplishments of former greats in various categories, it never tells of an athlete's character, integrity, leadership, dedication, or his love for the game and Clemson. Those accomplishments are etched in the minds of his family, friends and those he or she has touched during their lives.

Former Clemson football great O.K. Pressley is listed in the Clemson record book as the Tigers' first football All-American in 1928. The Tiger archives also tell of him being All-Southern in 1928 and captain of the first Clemson football team to win eight games in a season (1928). He was a unanimous choice for All-State honors in 1928, and named to the All-Southern team.

But most importantly according to the records (memories) of family and friends, he was also an All-American in the game of life.

"O.K. Pressley was like his initials—he was O.K.!", said Henry Asbill who was an end on the Clemson teams in the late 1920s.

"O.K. was a dedicated player. He played the game because he loved football and his school. He would help his team play better and harder by encouraging us. He would yell to us on defense 'Lets go boys, let's hold them here, we can do better than that, or Good play.' He never complained if he got hurt."

O.K. Pressley was the starting center and linebacker on the Clemson varsity football team in 1926-28. Back in those days a player participated on both offense and defense. He was named third-team All-American according to Newspaper Enterprise of America, John Heisman and Walter Trumbull teams.

"He was a great player and person. He gave it his all," said Bob McCarley who was a running back on the Clemson teams in the late 1920s. "He was an inspiration to all of us. He played clean and was a good sportsman who represented Clemson well. We all admired him."

"A better center than Captain O.K. Pressley of Clemson is hard to find," said Former South Carolina Head Coach Billy Laval.

Pressley was a dedicated family man as his son explains.

"My father was a great father and an All-American in every aspect of his life," said Kirk Pressley.

O.K. Pressley almost did not make it to Clemson, as his brother Tom tried to get him to go to Wofford with him and play football. Tom got off the train at Spartanburg and tried to convince his brother, but O.K. insisted he needed to go to Clemson. After he had gone 10-15 miles up the track towards Clemson, he almost jumped off the train and ran back to Spartanburg, but something inside of him told him to go on and be a Tiger—thus beginning one of the greatest football careers ever at Clemson.

When O.K. arrived at Clemson he began playing for the local YMCA team. Too modest to tell of his high school exploits, he remained on the YMCA team until he was discovered by the Clemson varsity coaches.

The YMCA team and varsity would scrimmage quite often on Bowman Field in front of Tillman Hall. He was playing defensive tackle in the first scrimmage and he was an instant star. At first the varsity put their best blocker on him, then they started double and triple teaming him, and he was still making tackles.

The Clemson varsity team claimed he was stealing their signals and Pressley challenged the varsity team to have their huddles at Tillman Hall then come and play. A star had been found and immediately he was asked to join the Clemson football squad.

Pressley was not only a great football player but at times served as trainer, publicist and friend—anything to help the Clemson Tigers win.

As a trainer, Pressley helped Team Doctor Lee Milford. "It was in the South Carolina game in 1928 on the opening kickoff, that two of our boys ran together and both of them had severe cuts over their eyes," recalled Pressley in an 1983 interview. "They could barely see out of them. Dr. Milford came running out on the field and said. 'We got to take these boys out.' Those were the days when you couldn't substitute. If you left the game you were finished for the day. We didn't have anybody else to put in the game. I told him to give me some tape so I could work on one while he worked on the other. We patched them up so they could see out of their eyes and remain in the game."

Pressley acted as a publicist when he kept the Winthrop University campus informed of the Tigers' exploits, especially his hometown girlfriend and later wife. Still in pads after a Pressley was Clemson's first All-American in 1928. He once had four tackles for loss on four straight plays against South Carolina.

ball game, he would walk to the Western Union Office and send a telegram to her at the Winthrop Campus and tell of the Clemson fortunes. Several Winthrop students would wait anxiously for the news of the Clemson Tigers. (Back in those days Clemson was the state's all male school and Winthrop was the state's all female college. Winthrop was considered Clemson's sister school.)

O.K. loved his teammates and was willing to share with them as any good friend would. The day before an Auburn game, the players went downtown in Auburn, AL. O.K. Pressley had 50 cents for the trip and bought a banana split for 25c. Pressley insisted on 12 spoons so his teammates could share in this special and unusual treat. It must have had some special power as Clemson upset Auburn, 6-0. It was in this game that Pressley suffered a severe hand injury.

He was in a great deal of pain on the train trip back home but he never complained. He would miss the next game against N.C. State, and he was being held out of the South Carolina contest.

In the South Carolina game, the Gamecocks were driving. O.K. Pressley knew he could help his team, but Head Coach Josh Cody did not want to play him because of his injury. South Carolina kept driving. O.K. went to Cody and begged to be put in and the coach said firmly "no". South Carolina was on the Tigers' 10-yard line. O.K. looked at the coach with pleading eyes.

Cody looked at O.K. and then looked at the field with an approving nod of the head as if to say please go in and stop the Gamecocks. Pressley charged out onto the field. On the first play he tackled the South Carolina player for an eight-yard loss. The next play Pressley tackled the South Carolina ball carrier for a seven-yard loss. The next two plays Pressley tackled the Gamecocks ball runners for a five and seven-yard loss respectively. It was probably the greatest one-man defensive stand in the history of Clemson football. Pressley must have given the Tigers a charge, as Clemson defeated the favored Gamecocks 32-0. Both teams came into this game with undefeated records of 5-0.

College graduation in 1929 didn't end Pressley's football playing days in that he entered the Marine Corps and served as a player/coach for some seven years. He went on to become a much decorated military figure before he retired with 20 years service to his credit in 1949 and returned to his native Chester County. He taught in the public schools there for several years, and retired to his farm near Chester.

He was honored at Clemson in 1983, over 50 years later, by being inducted into the Clemson Hall-of-Fame along with other Clemson greats. Pressley died on September 22, 1984.

Clemson's first All-American football player continued to be an All-American long after his Clemson career and made his mark in many people's record book.

NCAA Rules Interpretation

You Make the Call

An often-asked question goes like this:

You or your club sponsor a tennis or golf tournament. What guidelines are there? For example: Can you invite high school coaches and players to play with or against Clemson celebrities (e.g., coaches, players, former players)?

Some guidelines are:

You may invite high school coaches as long as the event is open to all comers.

You may not select or invite specific coaches for any reason.

You may not invite specific high school prospects (ninth graders or above), but you may have an open enrollment for all golfers.

If there is a fee or charge you may not waive nor pay any such fee for individual coaches or prospects (ninth grade or above).

You may pay any participation fee for Clemson coaches or administrators.

You may randomly assign partners for each team from the whole pool of entrants. You may not pair up individuals based on anything other than handicap.

You may not pay a university employee an appearance fee. It would be a violation of state law without first obtaining permission from the university.

Door prizes, if any, must be awarded on the basis of random selection from all participants.

No active Clemson player, in any sport, may receive an award or prize unless he/she is on a winning team or by random selection drawing. Any player who receives such a prize for competing must validate the receipt of that prize with the athletics director before accepting it.

A Clemson supporter or fan may not pay the participation fee or any expenses for current Clemson players. You may not advertise that Clemson players will be present.

Any prizes accepted by a winning team or team member will probably render a player ineligible in the sport in which the prize was won (e.g., golf tournament winners are not eligible to play golf, if they accept a prize.)

Vickery Hall

The mission of Vickery Hall is to function as a comprehensive support system to address the various transitional needs of student-athletes and, in turn, give each individual the opportunity to make the most out of his or her college experience.

Clemson University's commitment to provide its student-athletes with the very best of facilities is evident in many ways. From the soaring upper decks of Memorial Stadium, to the state-of-the-art strength-training facility, young men and women from all 18 of Clemson's varsity sports have the very best in facilities for training and competition. Vickery Hall is no exception, as the $3 million structure is as impressive aesthetically as any of the other facilities. But the importance of Vickery Hall to the Clemson University Athletic Department is not found in the structure itself, but in the many programs that the building houses.

Vickery Hall opened in the spring of 1991 and is the first facility in the nation originally constructed for the purposes of meeting the comprehensive needs of student-athletes. The two-story, 27,000-square-foot building is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of student-athletes, and consolidates a variety of academic services for their use.

The philosophy behind Vickery Hall is to provide the Clemson student-athlete with a program that will meet his or her needs academically, in personal growth and development, and with career assistance. Vickery Hall is tangible evidence that, at Clemson, the athletic department has made a commitment to make the student-athlete's total experience a rewarding one, even after he or she enters the professional world.

"Vickery Hall is one of the most important facilities the Clemson University Athletic Department has ever built or will ever build. It makes a philosophical statement about the institutional commitment—giving our student-athletes the same opportunity to achieve their full potential academically that we give them athletically. We're very serious about that," said Athletic Director Bobby Robinson.

Given the time pressures of athletic participation and practice, student athletes face a difficult balancing act in trying to perform well both on the playing field and in the classroom. With respect to this, Clemson's Student-Athletic Enrichment Services (SAES) has provided one of the best academic support and advising programs in the nation over the last several years. The completion of Vickery Hall gives SAES an even greater opportunity to help student-athletes reach the short-term goal of graduation and the long-term goal of success in the world. The facility is open throughout the day and into the evening to accommodate the extended schedules of the student-athlete.

Vickery Hall is located in the mainstream of east campus, behind Jordan Hall at the top of Bryan Mall. The main entrance to the building is a 1,570-square foot reception/office area, comprised of five advisors' offices, two graduate student offices, and a conference room. Also located on the bottom floor is the office of Bill D'Andrea, the director of Clemson's student-athlete enrichment program.

Vickery Hall operates under the guidelines and policies of the university and the center's staff adheres strictly to the rules and ethical conduct standards of the university. In addition to the director, the staff also consists of six full-time advisors, two graduate assistants, and 50 tutors.

The building also boasts a 175-seat auditorium to be used for classes, team meetings, review sessions, and seminars. The various speakers and lecturers who come to work with Clemson student-athletes as part of the student-enrichment program also use this facility. The auditorium is equipped with a projection booth and state-of-the-art audio and video equipment and will be available to other campus groups when not in use by Student-Athletic Enrichment.

Another area of the main floor, the computer resources area, consists of a general computer tutoring room and a computer science tutoring room. The computer room contains 30 personal computers for hands-on computer tutoring, word processing and other general uses.

The 13,000-square-foot study and tutoring area on the second floor comprises the majority of the center. This area contains 11 classrooms and 28 tutorial rooms, including a large 65-seat study room and nine 20-seat study rooms, which are designed as classrooms with freestanding desks.

Computing Facilities

The Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services has recognized the need for students to have access to high-quality computing equipment and has made a commitment to providing the student-athletes at Clemson with such equipment.

Located on the first floor of Vickery Hall is the Department of Student-Athlete Enrichment Services Microcomputer Laboratory. The lab is open six days a week, for 16 hours a day on Monday through Thursday.

The lab staff consists of mostly graduate students, many of whom are pursuing advanced degrees in computer science. Lab staff members are available for tutoring of any Computer Science course as well as the many management, engineering and business courses that deal with personal computers. Student-athletes may also arrange tutoring sessions outside normal lab hours any time during the school year.

Computers in the lab can reach many of the other machines on campus, including the NAS mainframe, and are, in turn, connected to a worldwide internetwork, allowing lab machines to access computing resources throughout the world. This also allows access to lab resources from computers throughout the world.

Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program

The Student-Athlete Career Assistance Program is one of the most important programs provided by the staff of Vickery Hall. The philosophy of this program is to provide help in securing summer employment and to aid in meeting long-term career goals.

By using the resources available to the University, Alumni Center and the Athletic Department, Bill D'Andrea is working to establish a network of businesses, companies, and executives who will help assist with the Summer Employment Assistance Program. The program's main goal is to provide the student-athlete with a job experience and a work history, which he or she can apply to his or her academic discipline.

The Long Term Career Assistance Program will be coordinated from the academic colleges, the Placement Center, and through the Athletic Department contacts. This program is designed to better prepare the student-athlete for full-time employment and will focus on resume writing and interview techniques so that each student-athlete will be competitive and aggressive when dealing with companies who visit the Clemson campus.

Personal Growth Program

Another aspect of Clemson University's commitment to help student-athletes reach their potential in all areas of their life—academically, athletically, and socially, is the recently implemented personal growth program. This program is one of the many purposes of Vickery Hall. This particular area of student development is designed to enhance and support the lives of student-athletes during their enrollment in college as well as in their life experiences after graduation.

The Vickery Hall staff realizes that student-athletes have more obligations than a regular college student. The personal growth program seeks to eliminate some of the stresses of adjustment to the higher level of academics and athletics. It is the group's special task to assist the student-athlete by creating a finely tuned balance of all areas to insure success in obtaining a Clemson University degree, by supporting successful athletic practice and competition, enhancing personal growth, and helping with the transition to life after college.

A series of personal growth programs will be offered to student-athletes throughout each semester. Some programs may accomplish their objectives in one session, while others may be ongoing throughout the academic year. Some of the personal growth programs are as follows:

Vickery Hall was the first building in the nation built to meet the comprehensive academic needs of a university's athletes.

Freshman Success:

This program will seek to make the freshman's adjustment to college life easier by covering many areas of adjustment to university life.

Alcohol and Drug Issues:

The intent of this program is to provide the student-athlete with an overview of the disease of addictions and chemical dependence. Emphasis will be placed on providing basic awareness of how substance abuse effects individuals, families and athletic teams.

Current Topics of Concern:

The idea behind this segment of the Personal Growth Plan is to address issues that effect students such as human sexuality, birth control, date rape, etc.

Career Preparation:

The Career Preparation Plan is to encourage all student-athletes to think about life after sports and after graduation. Many sources of information will be available, from career testing to self-paced computer programs, and even with resume preparation and interview skills.

Nutrition and Eating Disorders:

Eating habits and proper diet are very important in maintaining a sound body and mind. The focus of this program revolves around presenting information so that student-athletes can analyze their own eating habits and carefully choose a balanced diet with enough calories to maintain good health.

Personal Finance:

Student-athletes on athletic scholarships are not allowed to have jobs during the academic year. Therefore, it is important to budget personal finances so they do not run out before the semester. This program not only discusses budgeting but also the responsible use of credit.

Stress Management:

All student-athletes face additional concerns during their college days than normal students. Many times these add stress to the everyday lives of student-athletes. The object of this program is to teach the student-athlete ways of identifying and handling personal stress so it does not interfere with the maintenance of good mental and physical health.

Interpersonal Communication:

Communication is necessary in all areas of life to improve happiness, instill contentment and enhance success. Programs dealing with interpersonal communication will involve improvement of listening skills, verbal skills and learning respect for the feelings and emotions of others.

Study Skills/Time Management:

These two topics are combined because a major part of developing good study skills involves having the time to delegate to studying. Objectives of this program are to expose student-athletes to different types of study techniques that are proven effective.

Motivation/Self-Esteem:

The objective of this program is to improve the level of self-esteem for student-athletes to positively impact their productivity in all areas of campus life.

Clemson Football

THE TIP OF THE TALE!

Nothing can beat watching the Tigers play in Death Valley on a beautiful fall afternoon. But there's even more to the Tiger Experience than football. Take some time while you're here to enjoy all that Clemson has to offer!

The departments of English and performing arts cordially invite you to a special Homecoming Week event, the first Festival of African American Literature and the Arts, Oct. 20-24. Playwright Alice Childress and novelist Dori Sanders, both South Carolinians, and poet Nikki Giovanni will be on campus to discuss their works. Other events include a jazz festival, an art exhibit, a one-act play and a don't-miss performance by Clemson's superb gospel choir (officers shown above) and choirs from other local churches.

Call 656-1478 for a full schedule of events.

JUST DO IT.

Today's Band Program

by Beth McInnis and Brenda Rabon

Many would argue that each Clemson football Saturday should also be called "Band Day." Whether it's home in Death Valley or with the Tigers on the road, no Saturday would be complete without Tiger Band on the field.

Today, however, is even more special. This afternoon is designated "Band Day '93" and throughout the afternoon tribute will be paid to all of our hardworking band members and staff.

The band will present its traditional pregame show, performing "Washington Post," "God Bless America," and "The Star-Spangled Banner." As the band spells "Tigers" in script, Bob and Yvonne Brooks, owners of Naturally Fresh, will dot the "i." Tiger Band then honors the university with the playing of the Clemson University Alma Mater. As the team gathers at Howard's Rock, Tiger Band will strike up "Sock It to 'Em." As the cannon sounds and the Tigers pour into Death Valley once again, Tiger Band will play "Tiger Rag."

Today's halftime show is a salute to American composers titled "American Jubilee." The show will begin with music by John Williams, including "Fanfare from E.T.," "Superman Theme," "Raiders March" from Raiders of the Lost Ark, and "Jurassic Park." The Tiger Twirlers and the Tiger Band flagline will be featured during the halftime selections.

As a part of Band Day and Youth Day, today's halftime performance will feature a few special guest appearances. Nearly 1600 high school band members will join Tiger Band on the field for a massed band performance. The invited bands are from throughout South Carolina and surrounding states.

This year's participants include Calhoun Falls High School, Calhoun Falls, S.C.; Chester High School, Chester, S.C.; Franklin High School, Franklin, N.C.; Furman High School, Sumter, S.C.; Harlem High School, Harlem, GA; Hendersonville High School, Hendersonville, N.C.; McDuffie High School, Anderson, S.C.; Wagener-Salley High School, Wagener, S.C.; Walhalla High School, Walhalla, S.C.; and Ware Shoals High School, Ware Shoals, S.C.

Massed band selections include "Strike Up the Band," "Big Band Medley," and "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The halftime show will conclude with Tiger Band spelling "Clemson" and playing "The Song that Shakes the Southland...TIGER RAG!"

Today is also a tribute to the Tiger Band staff and Tiger Band leaders.

Clemson Alma Mater

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play
Here the sons of dear old Clemson,
Reign Supreme always.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tigers' roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

The Tiger Band staff includes Dr. Mark Hosler, Marching Band Director, Dr. Richard E. Goodstein, Director of Bands, Cheryl Hosler, Flag Line Coordinator, Hazel Martin, Twirling Coordinator, Angela Brewer, Band Secretary, and Kevin Morris, Band Announcer.

The Tiger Band student staff includes John Lamm, Commander, Jason Barnard, Vice Commander, Percussion Captain, and Student Director, Alyson Craft, Sargeant Major, Mary Weinberger, Uniform Officer, Cayce Crenshaw, Equipment Officer, Greg Cooper, Librarian, Lawanda Curry and Caroline Godbey, Drum Majors, Denise Degnan and Bonnie Hilton, Flag Captains, Brandy Perry, Twirler Captain, and Matt Brown, Head Manager.

The Tiger Band student staff is a select group of students. The students serving as Commander, Vice Commander and Sargeant Major are chosen by fellow band members. The remaining positions are filled by Dr. Hosler and Dr. Goodstein. In addition to their work during the school year, student staff members arrive at Clemson well before classes start and begin work on the program.

"These students put in a great deal of time helping with the day-to-day operations of the band program. Our faculty here at Clemson is small compared to other universities, so the services these students provide are outstanding," said Dr. Hosler.

True, today is a special day for Tiger Band and for the high school bands participating in "Band Day." However, every Saturday Tiger Band performs makes Clemson fans proud, home or away. Thank you, Tiger Band, for making Clemson University so proud.

Women's Soccer

by Sam Blackman

Enthusiasm and an untiring effort are the most common characteristics of a winner in sports.

For the new Clemson women's soccer program and its first-year Head Coach Tracey Bates-Leone, the program will definitely be built on enthusiasm and hard work. It is not hard to see that her most predominant characteristics are limitless enthusiasm and an endless supply of energy. After spending a few minutes with the former United States National Team player, it doesn't take long for other people to have the same fervor for the infant Clemson women's soccer program.

Bates-Leone has been on the job since late August preparing for the debut of the women's soccer program at Clemson University next year. She has been on the go preparing for 1994, with recruiting taking the majority of her time.

"The biggest thing I bring to my job is enthusiasm. The bottom line is that you play because you love the game—that is why I played," said Bates-Leone, who played on three national championship teams at North Carolina. "My philosophy is to keep improving players and strengthen characteristics that got them to this level. I also want my players to have a genuine love for the game and have a good time playing soccer. An excellent work ethic is important to me and a big part of my philosophies."

Perhaps the most challenging task in sports is building a program—especially when you are starting a team for the first time. Clemson announced it would add women's soccer to the 1994 varsity sports lineup in April, 1993.

Bates-Leone feels she is up to the challenge. Another asset she brings to the program is experience, having played the game since an early age, achieving national player status, and coaching on the collegiate level.

"I have seen the inner workings of the best college program in the country, the best national team in the world. I understand the commitment to excellence needed to be the best.

"I started playing when I was six-years-old. I played with my older sister Kathy and my twin sister Jennifer. We also played around the neighborhood with older children. We played football, basketball, and soccer at the local recreation center. I first played organized soccer when I was eight and I got involved in recreation leagues. I also grew up playing with club teams in Dallas. I then received a scholarship to North Carolina."

Bates-Leone was an All-American for the Tar Heels in 1986, 1987, and 1989 at the midfield position and was a member of three NCAA National Championship teams. She was also a member of the United States' National team in 1987-1991 and was a member of the 1991 Women's World

Soccer Championship team.

Right now, it may be called an off-season since the sport doesn't start until next year. But Bates-Leone is as busy as any coach on the Clemson campus.

"Recruiting is the biggest thing I am doing now. This is the most important part of my job. There are some great kids out there now. We are working to have a competitive first-year team. I have been writing recruiting letters and making several phone calls. I am still meeting people and making contacts. Later on we will prepare the 1994 schedule and order our equipment."

Currently, future Clemson women's soccer players are visiting the Clemson campus on their recruiting visits. Bates-Leone explains what she is looking for in this new group of athletes at Tigertown.

"I am looking for players with a tremendous work ethic, players that are very disciplined in their training. I want them to leave a better player than when they entered school. I want them to have an internal drive to work and improve on their own. It is also helpful to be very technical and skillful.

"The game is broken down to four dimensions—technical, tactical, physical, and psychological. I am looking for someone that is well-rounded in all these areas or who is a master in one of the areas. The technical area is possessing quality soccer skills. Tactical is decision making—making quick and correct decisions. The physical part of the game is speed, agility, strength, power, quickness, and endurance. Psychological dimension is the mentality to never say die and to always intensely compete to win.

"Players with the whole package are priceless. Some players are better in some areas than others. Anything that touches on these four areas is what I am looking for in a future Clemson player."

The Lady Tigers are in the toughest women's soccer conference in the country playing in the Atlantic Coast Conference. But, Bates-Leone is encouraged because of Clemson's unique support the administration gives in all of the sports.

"We are hoping for an excellent first recruiting class. It's similar to the foundation of a house—it needs a firm foundation to build upon. We are looking for talented players and good people to help form our foundation. We are looking for a player willing to take a challenge of coming to a first-year program and taking the team to national prominence, and at a place like Clemson, it can be done. Our goal is to be nationally competitive as soon as possible.

"Once a recruit sees Clemson, the campus speaks for itself. It has everything to offer a student coming out of high school for college, academic and athletic excellence, and nothing compares to playing in the ACC, it's the best.

"There is no question we have the facilities. A student-athlete has the resources to meet her athletic, academic, and social goals at Clemson. At Clemson a student-athlete has all the support to be successful in the classroom, but once you are out of the classroom and after graduation, Clemson has prepared you for life after college. I am impressed with Vickery Hall and what it has to offer. Vickery Hall is instrumental as far as academic success in athletics. It never ceases to amaze me what Vickery Hall has to offer. The number of tutors for our student-athletes and the facilities offered for use by the student athletes is incredible."

In January, Bates-Leone will be joined by her husband, Ray, as an assistant coach. He is currently the head women's coach at Creighton. Tracey was his assistant last fall.

"As a person and a coach, Ray is in a class by himself. He has a passion for the game like no one else. Building programs into national powers is his specialty. He is the only coach in the country to have built two women's programs from scratch (Creighton and Berry College). He is an incredible coach and brings a wealth of experience having played and coached in college for over 10 years. There's no one I enjoy working with more, and I feel we complement each other very well. We are a good team.

"I also stress to recruits that they should take a challenge of being a part of building a program. They can be part of a dream that can come true—part of a team that can become nationally competitive during the first recruiting class' tenure, it can be a reality. Obviously we are going to do everything in our power to make that happen I can promise. Because of Clemson and what the school has to offer, dreams can come true."

Bates-Leone was an All-American and national team member. Now she will try to jumpstart a new Clemson program in 1994.

Steve Derriso

by Chris Metzler

Several years ago in a seat in section KK a young boy sat with his father ready to watch the Clemson Tigers. Before the game started the young boy turned to his dad and said, "Some day I want to play out there."

The father, who would not have minded going down on the field and playing himself, thought that it was just another wild boyhood fantasy and said, "Son I think we all would."

But what this father did not realize was that his son meant it. Ever since Steve Derriso was a young boy he was determined to play football in Death Valley.

"We lived in Easley when I was younger and it became a dream of mine to play for Clemson," said Derriso. "One day my dad brought me to a game and we sat by the hill on the visitor's side. As we were watching the game, I told him I wanted to play out there some day. I don't think that he realized that I really meant it when I said it. It was one of the main goals in my life and through junior high and high school it was a driving force. It helped me focus at times."

But there was a time when no one would have thought Steve Derriso would have played football or any other sport.

"When I was young I had epilepsy which made it tough growing up because I would have seizures and then I would have to take time to calm down. Between the ages of six and 10 I had these seizures which caused me to be very insecure. For treatment the doctors would experiment with the dosage of various drugs. I remember having blood work done to see if I needed more or less of the medicine. Thankfully things worked out and I overcame the problem."

"Having epilepsy has helped me sympathize with people who are having problems. It made me realize where they were coming from. Because of the experience I know what it is like to be unpopular, and because of football, I know what it is like to be popular. I kind of know what people from each end of the spectrum feel like."

Unfortunately, epilepsy was not the only problem he had to overcome to reach his goal. In high school Derriso's dreams of playing for Clemson got a scare when he moved to Huntsville, Alabama. "When my family moved to Alabama I had some bad luck. In my sophomore year I had my knee scoped. The injury caused me to miss half of my season and then in my junior season I had mononucleosis, which also forced me to miss a lot of time. But during my junior year several colleges got in touch with me. It was like a miracle. Then in my senior season I received several scholarship offers."

It was not a miracle though that people were offering scholarships to Derriso, as he was a highly recognized football player. He was rated as the 38th best linebacker coming out of the class of 1989 by Joe Terranova. He was also named to Huntsville's City MVP team on defense and named to the Huntsville All-City team as a tight end and linebacker. When the time to choose a college came it was not hard for Steve as he was able to realize a boyhood dream. "I made the decision to come to Clemson. I remember that the first time I ran down the hill I had goose bumps. It was exciting and the adrenaline was pumping. It was a great feeling."

When he came to Clemson, Derriso realized that everyone was good at the college level. "Once I got to Clemson I quickly learned that everyone was very good. So, I had to play to the best of my ability and be happy with it. I think to have a scholarship is a great accomplishment and just to play and contribute is another. With so many players in high school a few will get scholarships and not all of those that do will play much. I am proud that I have earned a scholarship and have played also."

Derriso has played in 29 games. After being redshirted at linebacker in 1989, he was moved to tight end where he has played the last three seasons. He played in every game in the 1990 and 1991 campaigns as a reserve tight end and special teams player. Both of those seasons the Tigers went to bowl games, and for Derriso the bowl experiences were some of his most memorable in his career.

"My best memories are the bowl games. Just being a part of the whole experience from staying in the nice hotels to being part of the bowl activities was exciting. Going to a bowl game is just a great honor and a lot of fun."

In 1993 Derriso has played in every game on special teams and feels that throughout his career he has made a contribution. "I think that a football team is like a car engine. Each and every part is important to make the engine work. You need the air filter and the fan belt to make the engine work just like you need everyone on the team to make things work. Everyone from the first team players to the walk-ons that are members of the scout team are important to the team and its success in every game. Many people just see the starters but there is much more to the team."

Away from the football field Derriso enjoys fishing which allows him to get away from everything. "I enjoy fishing and do it a lot. I have gone with some of the other guys on the team but I mainly like to go by myself. I enjoy being out fishing which gives me time just to think to myself. I like to get off by myself and think. When you room with guys on the football team, take classes with them, practice with them, and eat with them, sometimes you just want to get away. Fishing also allows me to get away and enjoy nature, God's great creation."

But before he goes fishing Derriso does what is required of him as a student. "I was not blessed with great intelligence... I have to study, so I spend time studying just like other students. One thing that has really helped me is the Student-Athlete Academic Center. It has helped me quite a bit because of the tutoring and the other services it provides. It is a great privilege to have Vickery Hall and I think that it is something that every school should have." His time at Vickery has paid off as he was a member of the student-athlete academic honor roll for the 1991-92 and the 1992-93 academic years and he has a career GPA over 3.0.

Derriso not only works hard at being a good student; but also tries hard to be a good person, living a life that shows his devotion to his faith which is very important to him. "I try to be a good Christian. I have a strong faith in God and try to base everything in my life to pleasing Him. My faith is a very important part of my life and I try my best to show my faithfulness to His word by living a good life."

It has been through hard work that Derriso overcame childhood problems and achieved many goals while at college and it will be his willingness to work that hard on things which will make him successful in the future.

Derriso has been a member of the ACC Academic honor roll each of the last two years.

Steve Fuller

by Bob Bradley

An appropriate title for the 1978 Clemson football team picture could easily be "The Turn Around Crowd," because it literally did that to the Tiger program.

That picture had no less than 19 players who later had the opportunity to play in either the NFL, the USFL or the Canadian League. And listen to this...six of them were first-round NFL draft choices.

One of that half dozen was quarterback Steve Fuller. The others were Jerry Butler, Jim Stuckey, Jeff Bryant, Perry Tuttle and Terry Kinard. Fuller and Butler were freshmen in '75 as were Joe Bostic (a third-rounder), Jonathan Brooks (4th) and Dwight Clark (10th). Another group consisting of Lester Brown, Stuckey, Marvin Sims, Billy Lott and Rex Varn, among others, sweetened the pot as freshmen in 1976.

By the time 1977 rolled around, these players for the most part were juniors and sophomores. And after an opening home loss to Maryland, there were seven straight wins, the first one being a 7-6 win over Georgia in Athens. The only other regular-season defeat was a four-point loss at home to fifth-ranked Notre Dame with a guy named Joe Montana at the controls. A season-ending win over South Carolina sent the Tigers to Jacksonville's Gator Bowl—their first postseason bowl appearance in 18 years.

The turnaround had started. In 13 of the next 15 seasons, Clemson won at least eight games, and played in 11 bowl games.

How each player ended up at Clemson and contributed to the success of the football program in that decade-and-a-half is a separate story in itself. But, recruiting Fuller was "THE PROJECT" for Harold Steelman, who was an assistant on the 1974 Red Parker staff.

Steelman, now the manager of War Memorial Stadium in Little Rock, Ark., would not even hazard a guess as to how many times he went to Spartanburg on some kind of "Fuller recruiting business" because unlimited visits were allowed back then.

"I was kinda an ornament there in Spartanburg," Steelman recalled recently in a telephone interview. "I was either at Mr. (Tom) Fuller's (Steve's dad) Phillips 66 distributorship, or somewhere around town. They got to know me pretty well over there."

In Steve's senior year at Spartanburg High School, Steelman saw all of the school's football games, 23 of 24 basketball games and all of the baseball games and track meets that he participated in.

"Steve, in our association and in our recruiting, kept telling me 'you gotta believe and have faith,'" recalls the former Tiger assistant. "Well, I had the faith, but there were also Georgia and Tennessee."

The day that Steve made his decision, and it was in the summertime long after the signing date, he told Steelman that he and his father were going to play golf and that his final choice would then come out of that round. Steelman immediately put all telephones in his house off limits for that day. When it did ring, daughter Sara answered and yelled to her daddy, "It's Steve."

Unknown to Steelman was that Georgia assistant coach Frank Inman had played golf with the Fullers that day. "After pleasantries were exchanged I asked Steve how he hit 'em," Steelman recalled. "I played pretty good," was Steve's reply. "Coach In..." Steve started to say, and "my heart dropped to the floor," Steelman remembers. "I almost wilted." But true to his word, he said: "I've made up my mind." "I was holding my breath, my fingers were crossed as he said 'I'm coming to Clemson.'"

Steelman said his wife, daughter and son were on telephone extensions throughout the house listening. "When Steve said 'I'm coming to Clemson' you could have heard the four of us yelling all the way to Spartanburg."

One aspect of the ordeal sticks out vividly for Steelman. "With all of the scurrying around, I had a phone call from Frank Inman. He was on his way back to Georgia (and Steve had called him to inform him of his decision) and he had stopped out there on the interstate. He said, 'Harold, I don't know what you all did, but you did a helluva job getting him. I just want to stop and call you and congratulate you!' I've always appreciated Frank for that gesture."

Steelman said that during the week of practice before the Shrine Bowl game in Charlotte in December, he recalls seeing Steve's mother, Dorothy, sitting in the lobby at the team headquarters. Since there was no chair next to her, he just knelt down on one knee and took hold of her hand. A college coach, also interested in Fuller, walked by, saw Steelman kneeling and said: "I'll be darned, you'll do anything to recruit that boy...you're even proposing to his mother."

Mrs. Fuller said they had recruiters from early in the morning until late at night at their house. "We enjoyed them and made a lot of good friends that have lasted down through the years," Mrs. Fuller said. "We felt very honored and everybody was very sincere."

Father Tom said: "We tried to stay out of it and let him make his own decision because he was the one who was going to have to live with it. As it turned out, nobody can say that going to Clemson was bad for him because it worked out real well. He was happy there," Mr. Fuller continued, "and the people at Clemson had been good to him and it was a good decision. In all honesty, I think that Harold Steelman was the key to the whole thing."

Steelman laments that the Red Parker staff was not around to enjoy the fruits of their efforts. "We were unfortunate that we did not get to coach that group of players," he said. (1976, Steve's sophomore year, was Parker's last year as Clemson head coach.) "But that group put in a program that excelled beyond what it had been."

Steve could talk about his Clemson memories all night. But the game that stands out in his mind the most was the 28-24 win over Maryland his senior year. "It was the most rewarding because it clinched the conference (championship), it was against a ranked team (11th) and it was on their field," said Steve from his home in Hilton Head Island. "I don't think a lot of people expected us to win. And that crowd (7,000) at the airport when we arrived back in Greenville was unbelievable."

Steve's name is scattered all through the Clemson record book. The big one is he's the school's total offense leader—6,096 yards passing and running.

But look through the honors and awards pages and you will find:

First recipient of the Frank J. Jervy Scholarship Award...ACC Player-of-the-Year twice...Atlanta Touchdown Club Award (top back in the South)...Clemson Athlete-of-the-Year...Frank Howard Award twice (for achievement bringing honor to Clemson)...Jim Weaver Post-Graduate Scholarship...NCAA Post-Graduate Scholarship, NCAA Top Five Awards...MVP of 1978 Gator Bowl...R. F. Poole Award (top offensive player in USC game)...Clemson MVP twice...Academic All-ACC three times...All-ACC twice...Clemson Athletic Hall-of-Fame...South Carolina Athletic Hall-of-Fame...National Football Foundation and Hall-of-Fame Scholar Athlete Award.

Also, second-team Academic All-American as a junior... first-team Academic All-American as a senior...Clemson Dean's List student six consecutive semesters...just second Clemson athlete in history to have his jersey number (#4) retired...played in East-West Shrine Bowl...played in Senior Bowl...after Bowl played in the NFL for eight years...was #1 draft choice of Kansas City Chiefs (23rd player chosen) ...played with Chiefs 1979-83...with Los Angeles Rams 1983...Chicago Bears 1984-87 (on Bears' Super Bowl team in 1985).

No wonder Harold Steelman made so many trips to Spartanburg!

Steve Fuller is one of the top student-athletes in ACC history.
